West Fourth Street Repaving Delayed Until '39

ASK FOR AID EARLY, AULT ADVISES CITY

District Official Says State Can't Offer Any Help Until Next Year.

SENDS LETTER TO MAYOR

Hunter Says There's Nothing City Can Do But Accept Delay in Project.

Acting on recommendations from I. R. Ault, division engineer of the state highway department at Ashland, Mayor Claude M. Hunter indicated today that the re-paving of West Fourth street would be postponed until 1939.

Hunter received a letter from Ault today, in which the latter stated that he had been unable to win approval of the planning commission of the department of state participation in the job, as the city had been originally led to believe could be obtained, and suggested that the city make temporary repairs this year and then submit a request early next year for state assistance in repaving the street.

"Nothing Else to Do."

"There doesn't seem to be much else we can do except act in accord with Ault's suggestion," the mayor said today.

Ault also pointed out that the city could undertake the improvement with WPA aid, but Hunter has opposed that procedure on the ground that it would be too costly and take too long a time.

Hunter said he would turn Ault's letter over to the street committee of city council for their action.

Two weeks ago, highway department officials informed the city that if it would allocate funds to cover half the cost of the improvement, the state would furnish the balance. The job had been estimated to cost $86,000.

Jaster Reverses Stand.

Later, however, State Highway Director John J. Jaster said the state would not share in the cost of the work. He said the department was short of funds and added that it never shared in the cost of repaving projects within city limits.

Ault said the department's proposal had been submitted to the city as "the usual procedure" but since his superiors in the department had decided against it, there was nothing that could be done.

Jackie Staves Off Ouster So Mother Can Stay In Home

(By Associated Press)

LOS ANGELES—Jackie Coogan saved his mother and stepfather today from legal ouster from the luxurious mansion his screen fortune built.

"The kid" came to the rescue when he learned that a temporary receiver, appointed after he filed a $4,000,000 accounting suit against Arthur L. and Lillian Coogan Bernstein, was empowered to seize the home, three automobiles and personal effects used by the couple.

Hurrying to his attorney's office late yesterday, 23-year-old Coogan obtained a stipulation whereby his mother and stepfather could remain in possession of the property, pending trial of his suit.

A hearing on the Bernsteins' petition to dismiss the temporary receivership is set for tomorrow.

Toledo Woman Denied $25,000 In Bucyrus Crossing Crash.

COLUMBUS, O. — (U.P.) — The Ohio supreme court today had upheld the Lucas county appellate court which denied $25,000 damages to Mrs. Zoe Ballmer against the Pennsylvania railroad for death of her husband, Ralph Ballmer.

He died when struck by a Pennsylvania tram March 11, 1932, at the Whitstone street crossing in Bucyrus.

GETS JOB, GOES BLIND

COLLINGSWOOD, N. J.—(AP)—Harriet Young, 20, of Philadelphia, got a job after being unemployed for several months. On her first day at work she went blind. Hospital physicians said her condition probably was caused by nervousness.

Pennsy to Streamline 6 Trains Through City

New Model Flyers to Be Put In Service In June, Line Says.

WON'T STOP HERE

So Mansfielders Will Have a Tough Time Boarding Trains.

The Pennsylvania railroad today announced the streamlining of cars on eight of its premier east-west passenger trains, six of which go through Mansfield — but Mansfielders will find it difficult to ride the new trains because none of them stops here

The trains to be streamlined, effective June 15, are the east and west-bound Broadway Limited, leader of the Pennsylvania's blue-ribbon fleet, running between New York and Chicago, through Philadelphia; the General, running between New York and Chicago, through Pittsburgh; the Liberty, running between Chicago and Washington, through Pittsburgh, and the Spirit of St. Louis, running between New York and St. Louis, through Columbus.

All but the Spirit of St. Louis pass through Mansfield, according to Fred Sprang, clerk at the Pennsylvania ticket office at Union station, although none stop here.

The Broadway Limited, Liberty Limited and General do have stops for crew changes in Crestline, however, so Mansfielders who really want to ride the streamliners may be able to board them there. Sprang said, however, that there was a possibility that even the Crestline stop might be abandoned.

In that event, Mansfielders would have to be satisfied with just seeing the trains—and would have to be at the Pennsylvania station either early in the morning or late at night.

Eastbound the Broadway Limited passes through Mansfield at 9:17 p. m., the General at 9:30 p. m., and the Liberty at 9.08 p. m. Going west, the Broadway will go through Mansfield at 4:12 a. m., the General 3:41 a. m. and the Liberty at 4:34 a. m.

Cut Running Time.

In streamlining these trains, it is expected to cut the running time in both directions, according to the announcement. Thirty minutes will be cut from the running time of the new Broadway, reducing its New York-Chicago time to 16 hours, and the Philadelphia-Chicago run to 14½ hours.

The entire fleet will offer passengers a wide range of private room accommodations, the railroad announced. Sleeping cars for the new Broadway will be exclusively of the private room type, with no open sections. Other trains of the new fleet, however, in addition to the room type of cars will also include modern design open section Pullman sleepers.

Nine types of sleeping, lounge and observation cars, in addition

Dog Must Pay Tax On $500 Gift

COLUMBUS —(AP)— "Jack," 12-year-old dog, must pay an inheritance tax on a $500 bequest from his late mistress.

Laura Prior bequeathed $500 to Howard Palmer of Centerburg, O., in trust for care of her dog.

A court ruling here held the bequest subject to a seven per cent tax because it fell in the fourth class which includes persons not related to the deceased.

The court suggested the estate could file an objection to the $35 tax because a dog is not a "person, institution or corporation," the language of the statute.

MAYOR TAKES STEPS TO HAVE COPPER OUSTED

Says Patrolman 'Mentally Ill' Through—Seeks to Have Guardian Appointed.

While county officials were debating what to do with Patrolman Harry Copper, ordered hospitalized by Probate Judge C. J. Anderson, who declared the officer "mentally ill," Mayor Claude M. Hunter stated flatly today that Copper "was through" on the police force.

"As far as I am concerned, Copper is done on the police department," Hunter said. "And I will seek his removal with all possible speed."

He explained however that city officials were stymied at present by the ruling of the court in holding the officer "mentally ill," but was of the opinion that the case could be "worked out" in due time.

Institution Is Problem.

The question that confronted county officials today was "where shall we send Copper?"

If the officer were to be sent to Toledo state hospital, he would have to remain there for a minimum of a year, according to Judge Anderson, who is of the opinion that a rest of a few

PLAYSPOTS SET

Eight Recreation Centers to Open Season June 20.

Activities at Mansfield's eight playgrounds will open Monday, July 20, Floyd Dent, chairman of the Mansfield Recreation board, announced today.

Selection of opening day and plans for the season were made at a meeting of the board Wednesday afternoon.

The 14 supervisors who will conduct the playground activities will be selected at a meeting next week. Delay in naming the supervisors is due to the large number of applications received by the board, Dent said.

The board voted to sponsor a class A kittenball league at the parks, and to stress hardball for boys between the ages of 10 and 19. Three hardball leagues will be in operation this summer.

Playgrounds will be conducted at Johns, Prospect, Hedges and Liberty parks, and Bushnell, Brinkerhoff, Carpenter and Newman schools.

RELAYS HOUSING PLEA RENEWED

Has Accommodations for Only 170 of 300 Out-of-State Athletes.

Confronted with the problem of finding sleeping quarters in homes Friday night for about 300 out-of-state athletes who will compete in the Mansfield Relays Saturday, the housing committee sent out another appeal for rooms today.

R. B. Chapman, who is chairman of the committee, announced today that reservation for only 170 boys have been obtained. Persons with rooms to offer the athletes are requested to call Chapman at Canal 3330.

Mehock Almost Forgot—He Has To Enter Team In Relays, Too

Mansfield high school was almost represented in its own track and field carnival to be held Saturday by a scarlet face instead of a track team.

And the scarlet face would have been Director Harry Mehock's in this case.

The Mansfield Relays which will draw more than 1,000 athletes from six states to Stadium field this week-end is Mehock's pet party. He founded it 12 years ago more as a conditioner for his athletes than anything else, but it has grown by leaps and bounds, and today it is the largest meet of its kind in the country.

Mehock, assistant athletic director at Mansfield high, is just a little bewildered by the magnitude of it all, and, in the hustle and bustle, he just about forgot to enter his own team.

He has been so excited waiting for the mail to bring in more entries from other schools that he nearly overlooked the fact that he, too, was a track coach with championship ambitions.

Virtually all of the entries from

10 School Bands to March In Pioneer Day Celebration

Students to Enter Floats and Marching Units In Parade May 2; Schools to Close at Noon.

At least 10 school bands and a number of school floats and marching units will join in Mansfield's Northwest Territory celebration the afternoon of Monday, May 2, John F. Correll, general chairman of the celebration committee, said today.

Mansfield schools, which will close at noon the day of the observance, will contribute two bands, six floats and possibly other features to the parade, H. J. Dotson, principal at John Simpson Junior high school and chairman of the schools committee, predicted.

Marks Territory Anniversary.

Dotson heads a committee of four members appointed to plan the schools' participation in the observance of the founding of the Northwest territory 150 years ago. Others on the committee are G. W. Harmony, principal at Bowman school, and Earl Heasley and L. E. Rahn, instructors at Senior high school.

Invitations have gone out to eight neighboring schools, asking them to send their bands or floats and marching units. In addition, the Mansfield Senior high school girls' bugle corps and the Earl McVey post, American Legion bugle corps will be in the parade, which is expected to be the longest here in years.

Heading the parade will be the federal ox wagon caravan which is touring the state to stimulate interest in local celebrations of

IN SECLUSION

Society Girl Hidden While Colored Husband Hunts.

NEW YORK —(AP)— The Park avenue family of the former Sylvia Lazarus kept her secluded today as her colored husband of less than two weeks, William Sam Hart Stewart, 32, sought to have her returned to him.

The husband, a Harlem entertainer and animal trainer, followed his wife here by private plane from Chicago after swearing out kidnap warrants against three Chicago policemen and five "John Does" from New York who, he charged, took her from his apartment forcibly.

The young woman, apparently ill, arrived here late yesterday by train accompanied by her brother, Joseph A. Lazarus.

Lazarus said his sister, a former Smith college student, had been under the care of psychiatrists intermittently since a nervous breakdown in 1929.

COURT ENJOINS 41 NOTARIES IN BAR'S SUIT

Injunction Asked by Attorneys Aimed at 'Unauthorized Practice of Law.'

CASES AGAINST 3 DROPPED

Court Order Halts Notaries From Drawing Up Wills, Deeds, Land Contracts.

An injunction restraining 41 Richland county notaries from the "unauthorized practice of law" was granted the Richland County Bar association today in common pleas court.

The injunction was obtained by Attys. W. H. Gifford, John C. O'Donnell and George W. Biddle, a bar association committee, who filed the action in August, 1936.

45 Named In Petition.

The original suit named 40 defendants who hold notary public commissions, and five more were made parties in the suit recently after the plaintiffs submitted an amended petition.

Charges against three of the defendants, Martha Wetz of Shelby, and P. M Eliot and Bryan E. Terman of Mansfield, were dismissed by Judge C. H. Huston who found that they had not violated the authority of a notary.

Charges against Mrs. Bess Winbigler, Mansfield, another defendant in the case, will be disposed of later, since she did not appear in court this morning.

Cites Prohibited Duties.

The injunction prohibits notaries from drawing up wills, deeds, land contracts and preparing administration papers, or performing other duties usually considered the work af an attorney.

The case has been pending in common pleas court nearly two years while the plaintiffs awaited a decision of the state supreme court on the legality of certain practices of which the defendants were accused, Atty. Van C. Cook, one of the bar association's attorneys, said.

3-POINT PLAN

Columbus Merchants Seek to End Street Car Strike.

COLUMBUS—(U.P.)—With the business of its members reduced sharply, the Columbus retail merchants' association today submitted a three-point program to end the five-day street car strike.

(1)—Immediate resumption of car service without discrimination on the part of the company or the union.

(2)—Appointment of an impartial fact-finding committee of unbiased and representative citizens by Mayor Myron Gessaman. The committee would study and publish the facts and figures that might be available for the final adjustment of differences.

(3)—Within three days after publication of findings, negotiations by agreement should be resumed by the company and the union.

EARLY DIP FATAL

Youth Goes In For Swim, Cold Water Causes Death.

SANDUSKY —(INS)— An early-season swim in Mills creek, where the stream pours into Sandusky bay, had proved fatal today to Clarence Brauer, 19, son of Mr. and Mrs John Brauer.

Fire Chief Wilson McLaughlin, who worked over the youth with an inhalator in an unsuccessful attempt to revive him, said he evidently suffered a heart attack due to the coldness of the water.

TROTSKY FEARS ASSASSINATION

MEXICO CITY — (U.P.) — Leon Trotsky, exiled Russian war lord, is convinced that an effort is to be made to assassinate him soon, and has fortified himself in his village in the suburb of Coyoacan, it was learned today.

A United Press correspondent who visited Trotsky found that every member of Trotsky's entourage was armed and that there was a heavy police guard.

Trotsky has insisted in recent days that an agent of the Russian secret police had left New York for Mexico City to organize an assassination plot with agents already here.

DAVEY SET TO CALL ASSEMBLY

Governor Says He'll Summon Lawmakers in November for Schools, Relief.

(By Associated Press)

COLUMBUS — Gov. Martin L. Davey announced today that he would call a special session of the legislature in mid-November to consider "adequately financing" the school foundation program.

His announcement that school financing and relief constituted two of the state's major problems at present came as city officials from over the state affiliated with the Ohio League of Municipalities began arriving here for conferences on relief.

State Auditor Joseph T. Ferguson has invited various city and county officials to confer on relief and other matters today and Governor Davey planned to meet with league representatives Friday.

Several city officials contend that poor relief is the most pressing current problem and they are seeking a special session at the earliest possible moment to provide approximately $17,000,000 for the needy during the remainder of the year.

The governor has indicated that he might call a special session to deal with relief provided a program "which has a chance of passing" the legislature could be presented.

D. H Sutton, chief of school finance in the state department of education, estimated there would be a deficit of approximately $12,000,000 in the state public school fund at the end of this year.

FILE NEW PLEA FOR MRS. HAHN

Attorneys Ask Supreme Court To Rehear Death Appeal.

COLUMBUS — (AP) — Joseph H. Hoodin, attorney for Anna Marie Hahn, asked the Ohio supreme court today to rehear her appeal from a death sentence for the murder-by-poison of Jacob Wagner, 78, Cincinnati gardener. Mrs. Hahn is scheduled to be electrocuted at Ohio penitentiary May 4.

The court on April 13 refused to review her appeal for a new trial, holding that no debatable constitutional question was involved.

Hoodin said that if the court refused a rehearing he would ask Ohio's Chief Justice Carl V. Weygandt for leave to appeal to the U. S. supreme court.

'Back-to-Farm' Move Holds Key to Solve Present Problems, He Tells Newsmen.

(By Associated Press)

SUDBURY, Mass.—Henry Ford of Detroit today revealed plans for a discussion of "business conditions" with President Roosevelt, but asserted he would enter this conference with no ax to grind.

Standing in the warm spring sunshine on the extensive Wayside Inn estate, which he has rehabilitated as an early American hotel property here, the multi-millionaire automobile maker said he did not intend to give any "advice." At the same time, however, he left no doubt on his views.

Says Farm Holds Key.

His solution of present-day problems, Ford said in rapid-fire fashion, would be an expansion of the "back-to-the-farm" movement.

"If people do not raise their own food," he asserted, "they will have to have a dictator to tell them to do it."

He declared that in his opinion, the "farm is the thing that will save the country," and added:

"In no other way can we raise the money. The farms today must provide for industry.

"As an example I am going to cultivate every foot of the whole acreage here, right away."

Ford added that his "panacea" for anything was "work."

"This entire land is just yearning for young men to go to work in it. That's all a young fellow needs today, the habit of work. Once he gets the habit, he'll find his own work."

Ford voiced the belief that America was on the road back to normalcy, but warned against over-confidence and predicted that commodity prices would be established at a lower level.

Opens New Market.

Asked if an increase in farm products such as he proposed would not result in a lowering of farm prices, he replied:

"The price of farm products generally can never be too cheap because when the prices of farm

Rioting Breaks Out as CIO Votes to End Sugar Strike.

CROCKETT, Cal. — (U.P.) — A series of street fights broke out today as striking warehousemen affiliated with the Committee for Industrial Organization voted to end a five-week strike at the California-Hawaiian Sugar Refining plant.

Thirty officers restored order in 30 minutes. State highway patrolmen and deputy sheriffs used tear gas and riot guns to disperse the 400 men who crowded the streets in front of the hall where the vote was taken.

A half dozen men were injured, none seriously, in the fist fights.

William Tyler, vice president of the sugar refining company, said the plant would be reopened today and that approximately 200 men would be re-hired immediately.

Committees Named For County Fair, First In State This Year

With Richland county's 1938 fair booked as the first in Ohio, H. H. Wolf, president of the County Agricultural society, today pushed preliminary arrangements for the farm festival in view of the early dates—July 27, 28 and 29.

Wolf appointed a grounds organization of 18 committees and announced that fair board representatives are scheduling meetings with entertainment and concession operators in getting an early start in shaping the three-day program.

He said that in considering entertainment attractions, the board is making efforts to obtain the type that will be appealing to both urban and rural residents

Sub-committees are working out concession and attraction details to be presented to fair board directors for final approval.

"The early fair dates give us a decided advantage in booking attractions representing the best available for fairs." Wolf said "We can book them early in the season and before fairs in other counties, with later dates, get down to the work of considering contracts."

The committees the fair board's

SAN FRANCISCO TOPIC OF SAPPHO CLUB TALK

Mrs. Paul Eliot Gives Paper; Music Notes Presented By Miss Thelma Reed; Mrs. Ambrose Middleton Offers Vocal Numbers.

AT THE final regular meeting of the year Mrs. Paul Eliot presented a paper entitled "San Francisco—West Gate of the World" before members of the Sappho club. Mrs. Ambrose Middleton and Miss Thelma Reed also contributed to the program when the club met at the Women's Club with Mrs. James Wallace and Mrs. W. E. Renwick as hostesses.

Mrs. Eliot's paper fell into three sections. The first gave the history and background material explaining how San Francisco became the gateway of the west. She then spoke of the city in its industrial and financial aspect, and finally she told how the city had impressed her individually.

Music notes were given by Miss Reed, who illustrated her talk with piano numbers. She first gave a "Rhumba" by Schaum and followed with two numbers from the Translantique Suite of Alexandre Tansman. The selections were "Charleston" and "Fox Trot."

Mrs. Middleton sang "Plantation Love Song" and "May Day Carol" which is adapted from an old Essex folk song, both composed by Deems Taylor.

Mrs. William K. Mackey, retiring president, was presented with a gift of silver by the club. The new officers, Mrs. C. F. Sheriff, Mrs. A. C. Butterfield, Mrs. Rupert Cox and Mrs. R. J. Hammer, will assume their duties at a meeting which will be called in August.

Park Association Has Regular Meet

Tables were decorated with mixed spring bouquets last night when 75 members and guests of the Prospect Park association met for a covered-dish dinner at the pavilion. Hosts and hostesses were Mr. and Mrs. Carl Willis, Mr. and Mrs. C. E. Payne, Mr. and Mrs. L. O. Doolittle and Mr. and Mrs. Harry Hostettler.

Bridge prizes were awarded to Mrs. F. H. Cleland and Roy Vaughn. The five hundred winners were L. L. Stickler and Mrs. Albert Frank.

The next meeting will be May 18 with Mr. and Mrs. C. O. Garver, Mr. and Mrs. Byron Crider, Mr. and Mrs. C. L. Ackerman and Mr. and Mrs. L. H. Funk as hosts and hostesses.

Guest Speaker Has Paper On Samplers At Club Meeting

An exhibit of quilts, samplers and laces was held in conjunction with the paper read by Miss Sophie Reuss entitled "Old Samplers, Laces and Quilts." Miss Reuss and her sister, Miss Bertha Reuss, were guests of the Teachers' Wives' club which met last night at the home of Mrs. Nelson Neff, West Dickson avenue.

Readings were given by Vivian Miller and Grace Honse, the topics were "One June Night" and "The Blessed Damozel." Luncheon was served by the hostess and her assistants, Mrs. Vernal Mann, Mrs. Charles Freehafer and Mrs. Paul J. Winters.

The next meeting will be May 18 at the home of Mrs. Harold Miller. This will be a sealed program. Assisting Mrs. Miller will be Mrs. G. P. VanArman, Mrs. Harold Ramsy, Mrs. H. D. Bishop and Mrs. C. A. Byers.

Notre Dame Club Has Dinner Party

Members of the Notre Dame Study club entertained their husbands last night at a dinner and bridge at the Towne House. Dinner was served at the small tables which were decorated with snapdragons in bud vases.

Novelty bridge was played and prizes were won by Mrs. Joseph E. Kuebler, Mrs. Paul Hensler, Glenn Macy and John C. O'Donnell.

This meeting, which was the final session of the year, was arranged by Mrs. Emmett Casey, Mrs. Macy and Mrs. C. J. Wehinger. There will be a steak roast later in the spring, but the date has not yet been set.

Sports Style Spring Favorite

There is action in the skirts of the spring's new sports frocks. Pleats and gores have been used to give freedom of movement on golf links and country roads. This dress of blue, rose and cream plaid rayon crepe has a high-tied collar and an all-around pleated skirt typical of the trend. Other frocks for country week-ends include Old Favorite, the shirtwaist dress (good as ever), trig two-piece frocks and jacket dresses. Biggest selections from the sports color are green, beige, blue and a big splash of wine.

Dinner Marks 20th Anniversary For F. J. Schusters

White flowers decorated the table last evening when Mr. and Mrs. F. J. Schuster, Bartley avenue, entertained 31 guests in celebration of their 20th wedding anniversary. The dinner party was held at the Women's Club which was decorated with the flowers sent by friends in honor of the occasion.

Mr. and Mrs. Schuster were married at the home of her parents in Ravenna by Rev. L. J. Swanson of the Congregational church there. Out-of-town guests attending the dinner were Mr. and Mrs. O. L. Gilbert, Ravenna, Mrs. Frank C. Swartz and daughter, Lucille, and John H. Davis of Youngstown. Mrs. Swartz was matron of honor at the wedding 20 years ago. Mr. and Mrs. L. D. France of Marion were other out-of-town guests.

Following the dinner bridge was played and the prizes were won by Mrs. J. B. Conard, A. C. Butterfield, Mrs. Eugene Flory and W. B. Osborn. Musical selections were played by Mrs. Swartz and daughter, Lucille.

Newman Mothers Meet, Have Party

Members of the Newman school Mothers' club had a business meeting followed by a mystery sister party at the school. There were 38 members present and Mrs. Harry Roberts and Miss Mary Peppard were accepted as members. Mrs. Fred Dillon was a guest.

Miss Hazel Painter's room received the prize for the most mothers present. Talks were given by Sidney Smith and Edward W. Kissell.

A contest was held and the prize was won by Mrs. Carl Kalstein. The hostesses were Mrs. John Gross, Mrs. Virginia Gross, Mrs. Thelma Hodgson and Miss Rose Cherry. The next meeting will be held at the school with the teachers as hostesses. No date was announced.

Nominating Committee Named; Consider Entering Float In Celebration Parade; Prospect Group Presents Play.

THE nominating committee, which includes Mrs. Harold Roberts, Miss Dorothy Moser and Eugene Boling was named last night when members of the Hedges P. T. A. met at the annex building. During the business session which was presided over by R. Y. Davis plans were made for a lawn fete May 25.

It was also decided to enter a float in the Northwest Territory celebration parade when it comes to Mansfield. A program was presented by the Prospect School P. T. A. under the direction of Claude Zediker.

Those appearing in the skit, which was called "Examination Time," were Mrs. Roy Oberlin, Mrs. Gilbert Laser, Mrs. Clyde Benninghoff, Mrs. Ruben Neal, Mrs. Melvin Bauer, Miss Catherine Oats, Paul Ackerman, George Taylor, Henry Young and Mr. Zediker.

Members of the social committee included Mrs. Boling, Mrs. Glenn Pore, Mrs. Michael Burns, Mrs. T. L. Hockett and Mrs. Carl Lang.

The next regular meeting will be held May 18 at the school and at this time the nominating committee will report and officers will be elected.

Auxiliary Gives Dinner Wednesday

Sons of Union Veterans of the Civil war, auxiliary No. 100, met for a family covered-dish dinner last night at Memorial hall. The business meeting was in charge of Mrs. Eunice Cleland and national circular letter No. 1 was read and committee reports were given.

Mrs. A. J. McHugh, patriotic instructor, was in charge of the program on the Northwest territory. Plans for participation in the celebration which will be in Mansfield May 3, were discussed. An invitation to attend the annual inspection of the Butler chapter April 26 was accepted.

The district meeting at Fredericksburg Sunday also was announced. The next meeting, which will be annual inspection, will be held in Memorial hall, May 4.

Miss Eakin Guest At Bridge Party

The Chinese room of the Mansfield-Leland hotel was the scene last night of a dessert-bridge given in honor of Miss Dorothy Eakin who will become the bride of Dr. George Wood, Rochester, Minn., Apdil 30. The Misses Fae Sotherland, Elizabeth Woltmann and Isabel Robinson were the hostesses.

White sweet peas and green and white favors were used to decorate the five tables. Miss Eakin was presented with a silver gift by her friends.

High score prizes were won by Miss Alice Bowers, Mrs. Lloyd Brown and Miss Bess Wickert.

Sluggers Return To Action Tonight

Survivors of First Round Bouts Attended by Capacity Crowd at Y Don Gloves Again.

By CHARLES MARTIN

AMATEUR leather slingers await the gong today that will send them back into action in second round bouts of the Junior Association of Commerce A. A. U. boxing tournament at 7:30 p. m. at the Y. M. C. A.

A capacity crowd was on hand last night to witness the 24 opening round affairs, which provided the fans with a well-balanced menu of knockouts and storybook finishes.

Mansfield representatives gave a good account of themselves against some of the top-notch amateurs from surrounding cities.

Six of the eight Mansfielders emerged with victories. The other two simon-pure sluggers dropped close decisions amid lusty boos of the rabid fans.

Glover Wins Quick.

Beaufort Glover, of the Friendly House, leading contender for the lightweight championship, became an outstanding favorite to cop that title with an impressive 16 second technical knockout over Bill McCork of Ashland.

The hard-punching Mansfield youth unleashed a flurry of rights and lefts that completely swept the Ashlander off his feet and Manager Roger Doerr tossed in the towel.

Kid Carmel, another Friendly House product, also came through with a one-sided victory over Phil McDonald, Mt. Vernon, in the 126-pound division. Carmel was awarded a technical knockout in one minute and 18 seconds of the opening round. The Mansfield lad was in complete command during the brief but fast fight.

Paul Carbetta, also of the settlement, a favorite to annex the flyweight crown, decisioned Jack Breese of Ashley in a wild bout that was marred by the loser's wrestling tactics. Carbetta landed telling punches, though.

The only other Mansfield youth to score a technical knockout was Tom Clemens, a promising flyweight of Friendly House. Clemens floored Dick Shively of Marion for a count of six in the opening two-minute round, and then came right back in the second with some fancy leather slinging that had Shively groggy. The Marion youth's second tossed in the towel after one minute and 30 seconds of the second round.

Jim Dewberry, 104, of the Friendly House, won on decision over Ralph Kleinknack, 104, of Galion, to account for the other Mansfield victory.

Referee Decides Bout.

Dean Chatlain, 145, a newcomer to Mansfield amateur ranks, gave an excellent account of himself against Frank Parker, 147, of Ashland, but dropped a close decision when Referee Bob Finical voted for the Ashlander after the judges, Ray Morgan, Paul Eliot, and Henry Them, voted a draw. Chatlain had Parker down for a six count in the second round and had him hanging on the ropes at the end of the fight.

Bill Fair, 137, of Mansfield, dropped the other decision to flashy George Fleiner, 138, of Crestline. Fleiner's whirlwind finish won the verdict of the judges.

Bud Sturzinger, a straight-punching light heavyweight of Sandusky, made short work of two rivals last night to advance to the semi-finals. The Sandusky amateur scored both victories on technical knockouts. In the opening round fight, he disposed of Ray Weis, 172, of Willard, in the middle of the third round, and then finished George Lockenette of Loudonville in 36 seconds. It was the second and third time Sturzinger ever appeared in a ring.

Phil Ganni, Crestline middleweight, established himself as a favorite to take the 160-pound division title with his impressive decision victory over Bill Weltlin of Norwalk. The Crestline youth had the fans on their feet with his lusty slugging, and although he had his opponent hanging on numerous times, was unable to produce the knockout punch.

Plenty of Action.

Tom Sheets, 146, of Ashley, and Carl Zent, 147, of Galion, gave the fans a real treat with plenty of action from the opening gong. The boys, on several occasions, stood toe to toe and slugged it out with Zent finally emerging with the decision.

Firth Griffith, Bill Goetz, Jimmy Wilde, Bob Finical, and Joe Menrath were the third men in the ring. Sam Fox served as timer.

More Schools File Relay Entries

Counting the junior high and grade schools entered in special events the entry for the Mansfield Relays to be held Saturday soared to 109 schools today.

The entry of schools competing in the regular events reached 83 today with the filing of entries by Meadville, Pa., Elyria and Centerburg today.

Junior high teams have been entered by Tiffin Columbian, Bucyrus, Strongville, Norwalk, St. Paul's, Fremont, Columbian, Bellevue, Bedford, Akron Garfield, Akron South, Ashley, Cleveland Rhodes, Cleveland Collinwood and Cleveland Central, Erie, Pa., East and Simpson and Hedges of Mansfield. Eight Mansfield grade schools will compete in a special relays race.

Last Night's J.A.C. Results

The American Legion will go in for baseball in a big way this year.

Announcement was made today by officials of the Legion that two teams will be sponsored by the Mansfield post.

In addition to financing a junior team, the Legion will sponsor a semi-pro club, which will be under the management of Dewey Durant, widely known in Ohio baseball circles.

The semi-pro team will be affiliated with the Central Ohio semi-pro league, which consists of Columbus, Newark, Lancaster, Logan, and Zanesville teams, to mention a few.

Games will be played by the Legion teams in the league on Sundays, with the Fairground the likely home field.

Durant has also been selected to manage the junior team. The juniors will be entered in district competition.

Durant said the first workout for the junior team will be held at the Fairground at 4 p. m. Friday. Any player in the city under 17 years of age is eligible to try out for the club, Durant said.

The first drill for the semi-pro team will be held at the Fairground today, and the first league game is scheduled Sunday, May 8. The schedule has not been completed.

Among the players who will try out for the semi-pro club are Henrich, Ross, Moxley, Deeds, Donnan, Keester, Kibler, Geiger, and Richards.

DiMaggio Accepts New York's Offer As Fans Thrill Over Day's Achievements

By GAYLE TALBOT.
(AP Sports Writer)

THE big league baseball races, only just begun, already have suplied more quick color and commotion than a four-ring circus during a thunderstorm. The customers today were slightly bewildered from trying to look in a dozen directions at once.

Joe DiMaggio, the last of the holdouts, was rolling eastward to join the beleaguered New York Yankees, watching the telephone poles tick off the dollars he had lost by trying to buck the most powerful club in the business.

Perhaps Manager Joe McCarthy was the most relieved yesterday afternoon when DiMaggio wired Business Manager Barrow he had accepted the club's sole offer of $25,000 after holding out for $40,000 since Jan. 21. It will be up to McCarthy to judge Joe's fitness to play. He will be in uniform when the Yankees meet Washington Saturday.

Owner Phil Wrigley, who owns the Chicago Cubs, was gaining confidence tht he hadn't been stuck in planking down $250,000 for Pitcher Dizzy Dean. The Diz did all right in his inaugural.

Bob Feller, 19-year-old fireballer of the Cleveland Indians, had come within a single scratch hit of achieving that noblest of all diamond deeds, a hot-hitter, as he shut out the St. Louis Browns, 9 to 0. He struck out six and made two hits.

Among the day's high spots: A home run hit by Gene Moore of the Boston Bees with three on base beat the Giants, 6 to 4; a nine-run rally by the Cubs at Cincinnati's expense, and a four-run, last-inning comeback by the Philadelphia Phils to out-game Brooklyn, 6 to 5.

Eyes were glued to the tickers all over the country as Dean went in to prove that Branch Rickey of the Cards hadn't made a sucker out of Wrigley. It wasn't a complete test for the Great one's arm, not after the Cubs gave him nine runs in the second inning. During the six innings Diz worked he allowed eight hits and two runs, but he looked tough enough when it came time to bear down.

Jack Russell relieved him after the sixth and finished out the 10 to 4 victory. Tony Lazzeri hit a double and three singles for the Cubs, who raked three Reds for 16 safeties.

Jim Turner, last season's aged rookie sensation, held the Giants to six hits and Moore came through with a decisive homer for the Bees. Hal Schumacher suddenly weakened in the eighth and Big Walter Brown went in just in time to take the rap.

The St. Louis Cards looked like they were missing Dean as five of their remaining pitchers took a 9-4 hiding from the Pittsburgh Pirates. Every Pirate joined in the 20-hit barrage.

Fat Freddie Fitzsimmons was the victim of the Phils' spectacular win over Brooklyn. Leading 5-2 going into the ninth after having hurled hitless ball for four innings, he suddenly was rapped for three singles before Max Butcher was rushed to the rescue. Pinky Whitney promptly drove in two runs with a single to tie the score, and then Butcher cut loose a wild pitch to let the winning run across.

Washington won its third straight from the Athletics, 3 to 0, as Dutch Leonard kept seven Philadelphia hits scattered.

Detroit dropped the second in a row to Chicago, 5 to 4. Mickey Cochrane started Vennon Kennedy and Vernon had to be pulled in the seventh.

Disputed Play Costs Feller No-Hit Game

CLEVELAND—(U.P.)—Baseball's story-book "kid," Bob Feller, today inscribed another indelible chapter into one of the most dramatic and appealing chronicles in diamond history.

Feller, the raw-boned, good-natured Iowa farm boy who two short seasons ago stepped from behind a concession stand at League park and skyrocketed into the baseball spotlight by an amazing performance in an exhibition contest against the St. Louis Cardinals, approached a coveted place in the "hall of fame" here yesterday as he pitched the Cleveland Indians to a 9 to 0 victory over the St. Louis Browns.

First Triumph.

The Indians' 11-hit attack on Jim Weaver and Russ Van Atta was incidental. Cleveland's first triumph of the championship season was welcome, but the manner in which Feller achieved it was the thing which counted.

Feller, a definite question mark and the cause of wholesale speculation because he limited the use of his blazing fast ball during spring training games, turned in a superb performance as he limited the Browns to one hit.

The bitter irony that frequently entwines itself in chapters of baseball history was tied in with the only safety which Feller allowed. The lone St. Louis hit came in the sixth inning and was credited to Billy Sullivan, who last season was a member of the Indians' catching staff.

The hit was of the scratchy infield variety, but it was sufficient to keep the 19-year-old Feller from taking a place among the game's immortals.

Happens In Sixth.

With one out in the sixth, Sullivan bunted sharply back to the left side of the pitcher's box. Feller was off balance momentarily but recovered to make a bare-handed pickup of the ball and then rifled it to Hal Trosky at first base.

The play was extremely close and the Indians protested vigorously when Umpire Eddie Rommell ruled the runner safe. Trosky, Sammy Hale and Lyn Lary all engaged in an argument over the decision, but Feller stood unperturbed in the center of the diamond and said nothing.

Feller was a bit wild, but never wild enough to put himself in dangerous holes. He walked six men and struck out an equal number. The Browns got one runner as far as third base and two to second.

St. Louis hit only six balls to the outfield and all of these were lazy flies that the Indian gardeners had no trouble in taking. The only two balls the Browns hit hard were a ground smash in the sixth that Lary handled; and a line drive that Ken Keltner took from the bat of George McQuinn in the seventh.

Three In Second.

Cleveland scored three times in the second round, once in the third, once in the sixth and twice each in the seventh and eighth.

Trosky with three hits in four trips to the plate was the batting star. One of his safeties was a double and another a triple.

The clubs were to meet here again today.

Corry Accepts New Position

GALION — Announcement was made here Wednesday by Supt. O. E. Hill of the resignation of Robert M. Corry as director of athletics and head football and track coach of Galion high school. Corry has accepted a similar post entailing more responsibilities and a higher salary at Cuyahoga Falls, it was announced.

Relays to Feature Classy Field of Schoolboy Stars

Stiff Competition Likely to Bring Out Number Of New Track and Field Records Saturday.

By OSCAR RUHL, News-Journal Sports Editor.

COLLEGE track coaches of the mid-west will center their attention on the 12th renewal of the Mansfield Relays at Stadium field Saturday in their search for future stars.

It is in this thin-clad carnival that the best high school talent of Ohio and surrounding states collide annually, and coaches realize this, too, judging from the increase in attendance of college mentors in recent years.

There may not be any Jesse Owenses, Jack Kellers, Dave Albrittons and Vince Murphys in this year's renewal of the gigantic schoolboy event, but there will be a sufficient number of collegiate prospects on display Saturday to attract the coaches.

The entries this year reveal one of the classiest groups of high school athletes ever to romp at Stadium field, and predictions are that the meet will not be dominated as completely by one or two individuals as some of the past Relays.

New Marks Likely.

The indications are that the athletes will stage torrid battles for first place in every event, and the competition is likely to spur them on to a number of new records.

LINTA

From the thrilling sprints to the monotonous weight events, the competition should excell the best ever staged at the Mansfield layout.

The field includes state champions as well as defending Relays kings.

Due to the stiff competition, it is likely that many of the heralded visitors will be eliminated in the morning trials. However, the majority are expected to survive the trials to qualify for the finals.

The sprints are the favorite events for track fans, and the crowd that packs Stadium field Saturday will not be disappointed.

Headed by James Callista, Erie, Pa., Strong Vincent, who is the defending champion in the sprints, the 100 and 220-yard races should be hotly contested.

Callista's rivals will include Joe Saunders of Glendale and Bill Entriken of Columbiana, a pair of state champs.

The Glendale boy's brother, John; Jack Smith of Cleveland Central, Howard Carmany of Cleveland Collinwood and Al Chamberlain of Akron North are just a few of the other contenders.

Also in '440.'

Callista will also run in the 440-yard. One of his chief rivals in this event is expected to be Charles Schmeling of Signaw Eastern, who holds the Michigan championship.

Joe Prokop of Cleveland Cathedral Latin, who recently ran the fastest quarter-mile ever clocked in Cleveland, should be a contender.

The 880-yard run will include three state champions. They are Brelsford of Birmingham, Mich., who has never been beaten in his specialty; Halko of Schenectady, N. Y., Nott Terrace, and Baird of Kilbourne.

Witoskor of Canonsburg, Pa., who has run the half mile under two minutes; Reidy of Sandusky, defending champion in this event, and Rish of Cleveland East, city indoor champion, are just a few of the other stars in the 880 field.

The milers are also expected to stage a dog-eat-dog race, with Howard Leahy of Cleveland East Tech the favorite. Leahy won the state and Cleveland titles after winning the Relays mile last year.

Rogers of Sandusky, who pushed Leahy in the Relays; Hunter of Strong Vincent, second last year, and Myers of Newark, who paced the field for two laps last spring, are other milers who must be considered.

Champion in Hurdles.

In addition to the Saunders brothers of Glendale, the hurdles contestants will include Ropelewski of Erie, Pa., Academy, who is the Pennsylvania low barrier champ; Horshberger of Upper Arlington, Allison of Cleveland Central and Rybacki of Canonsburg.

A number of the field records will certainly be threatened if not broken Saturday.

Mansfield will have a major contender in the vault in John Linta, who has been scaling the bar just short of 13 feet in workouts. He is the defending champion.

Linta's rivals include Boryk and Robbins of West Tech, Farrow of Columbus South and Wright of Akron Garfield.

Cook of Republic, state Class B champion; Giles of Newark and Farrow of South head the list of discus performers, while the high

High Geared BLUE SUNOCO THE ONLY TRUE BLUE MOTOR FUEL
Wins
Giant survey of new car owners in 140 cities shows Blue Sunoco in first place!

Here's a story of motor fuel superiority . . . told, not by its manufacturer, but by the most critical of its users:—owners of new cars with high-compression engines. These experienced drivers ranked Blue Sunoco first by 57.5% more votes than the next highest on the list . . . gave it 95% as many votes as the next two gasolines. Certainly facts like these should convince you that High Geared Blue Sunoco is the motor fuel for your car . . . because:—since new cars require a better gasoline to perform satisfactorily, such a gasoline will obviously perform with at least equal satisfaction in older cars.

• • •

This survey was conducted by an independent organization in Massachusetts, Rhode Island, Connecticut, New York, Pennsylvania, Delaware, New Jersey, Maryland, West Virginia, Michigan and Ohio. The replies received were submitted to Lybrand, Ross Brothers and Montgomery, certified public accountants, who prepared the above tabulation therefrom.

QUICK STARTING!
FAST ACCELERATION!
KNOCKLESS QUALITIES!
POWER ON HILLS!
LONG MILEAGE!

Your Winter Oil is too thin for safe summer driving. Change to SUNOCO SUMMER OIL the oil that keeps motors knockless. Now in cans as well as bulk.

jump brigade will include such widely known athletes as Wiley of Erie Academy, who has done better than six feet, and O'Rourke of Warren, who holds a record of 6 foot, 3 inches. Thompson of Cleveland East should be a threat

Hershberger of Upper Arlington, who holds the state Class B record; Allison of Cleveland Central, Entriken of Columbiana, Torrey of Jackson, Mich., Eastern, Rudloff of East Palestine and Pringle of Akron Garfield head a strong broad jump field.

Head Shot Putters.

Listed as major shot putt contenders are Graf of Upper Arlington, Clark of Cleveland West Tech Moldea of Akron Garfield and, of course, Giles of Newark.

Despite a knee injury suffered last week, Elmer Dials is expected to be able to appear in the javelin throw. Before the injury, Dials tossed the spear around 200 feet.

Hall of Upper Arlington and Gant of Sandusky are other ranking javelin tossers

Oldsmobiles Pace Scoring

Hang Up 2941 Total In City Bowling League.

The champion Miller Oldsmobiles again set the scoring pace in the City league at the Meder alleys last night.

Led by Earl Robertson's 652 and Sonny Meder's 623, the Oldsmobiles compiled a 2941 total as they took a pair of tilts from the Meder Recreation, led by Linster's 620.

Henry Michaels and Clyde Ritter rolled respective totals of 636 and 621 as they led the Roma Lunch to a 2930 count and a clean sweep over the Liederkranz club.

The Metcalf Pure Oils smacked out a 2806 as they annexed two games at the expense of the Lumbermens Mutuals. Phillpon shot a 629 for the Mutuals and Winnie Cleckner rolled a 602 for the Oils.

MALONE QUITS MILLERS, RETURNS TO MILAN

LOUISVILLE, Ky.—(AP)—Pitcher Pat Malone, "fed up on this minor league stuff" and "through with baseball," headed today for his Milan, O., home after announcing he had quit the Minneapolis American Association team.

THEATER

THE stories of New York feminine fans mobbing Spencer Tracy have left that he-man actor with a very red face, in view of the fact that he thought women mobbed only the Robert Taylors.

Ashland Scene Of Rifle Meet

The annual North Central Ohio rifle and pistol championship matches will be held Saturday at the Ashland Armory. Mansfield will be well-represented again this year.

The program, which includes 11 rifle and pistol events, is scheduled to start at 1 p. m. and will run through the afternoon and evening. The No. 1 match on the card is the rifle championship which winds up the activities. Awards will be presented for first, second and third place in this event.

A handicap rifle match and reenry matches in both rifle and pistol competition are also on the program.

A large number of individual prizes and trophies will be awarded winners and runners-up in all matches. A representative of the National Rifle association will be on hand to supervise all matches, which will be conducted under N. R. A. rules.

The rifle matches will be staged on the main floor of the armory with the pistol events to be held on the Ashland club's range.

And his lot was not made happier by a flood of mocking telegrams from friends on the Hollywood lots. Gable sent him a wire which read: "Listen Kid, that Academy award was for acting, not woman appeal. . . . You great big handsome mug!" Myrna Loy, starred with Gable and Tracy in "Test Pilot," sent him a message which said "Spencer, it just goes to show that we girls always fall for you big strong, silent he-men," while Bill Powell added to Tracy's misery by wiring him "Protect yourself in the clinches, kid, and look out for the continental gals. Don't say I didn't tell you." Tracy's embarrassment is all the more acute in view of the fact that he hates the "great lover" stuff.

Air Races In Film.

Rounding out a full week at the Ohio, "In Old Chicago" will be shown through Friday. It opened last Saturday for four days, but has been continued from day to day because of its drawing power. The new picture for next week will be brought in on Saturday again, thus throwing the Saturday midnight show to the Madison. Metro's big thrill picture, "Test Pilot" will open on Saturday, with Clark Gable, Spencer Tracy and Myrna Loy in the stellar roles and Lionel Barrymore supporting. A number of shots were made last year at the Cleveland air races for the picture, including crowd scenes and the ending of the Thompson Trophy race. A number of Mansfielders in direct range of the camera will be searching the "mob" pictures with eager eyes, looking for familiar faces.

Hoppy Rides Again.

William Boyd, veteran of 18 "Hopalong Cassidy" outdoor pictures, has a new leading lady in his latest Clarence Mulford story "Heart of Arizona" which has its first local showing at the Madison Friday, and continuing through Saturday. She is Natalie Moorhead, who has been in pictures for a number of years. The story revolves around the unwritten code of the West—that when cattle rustlers molest a helpless woman the men of the vicinity ride to her rescue. Boyd and his saddlemates of the Hoppy series go to the rescue of Miss Moorhead and rout a gang of rustlers in Arizona. All of the well known characters of the Cassidy pictures are in the current episode.

Romance and Contests.

Woven around a nation wide advertising contest that develops surprising features when racketeers get hold of it "Everybody's Doing It" has the stalwart Preston Foster and versatile Sally Eilers teamed in starring roles. These two popular players play a pair of commercial artists for a breakfast food company. Between them they develop the idea for a big puzzle contest. But things happen when two racketeers get the same idea of cashing in on the contest. There's a kidnaping and an ingenuous scheme to turn the tables on the crooks. The Majestic also offers "The Painted Trail," an action picture of the West, with Tom Keene.

Jungle Love Story.

Another jungle heroine comes to the screen in "Wolves of The Sea," a Ritz attraction for the last two days of the week. Hobart Bosworth, who has been a steady favorite in pictures since the early silent days, plays a hard bitten sea captain who goes to a South Sea island to salvage a lost ship and finds a white girl alone on the jungle island. When he takes her aboard his ship and presents his handsome first mate, they have the makings of a love story. The Western feature on the bill is "Wild Horse Rodeo" with the Three Mesquiteers—Bob Livingston, Ray Corrigan and Max Terhune.

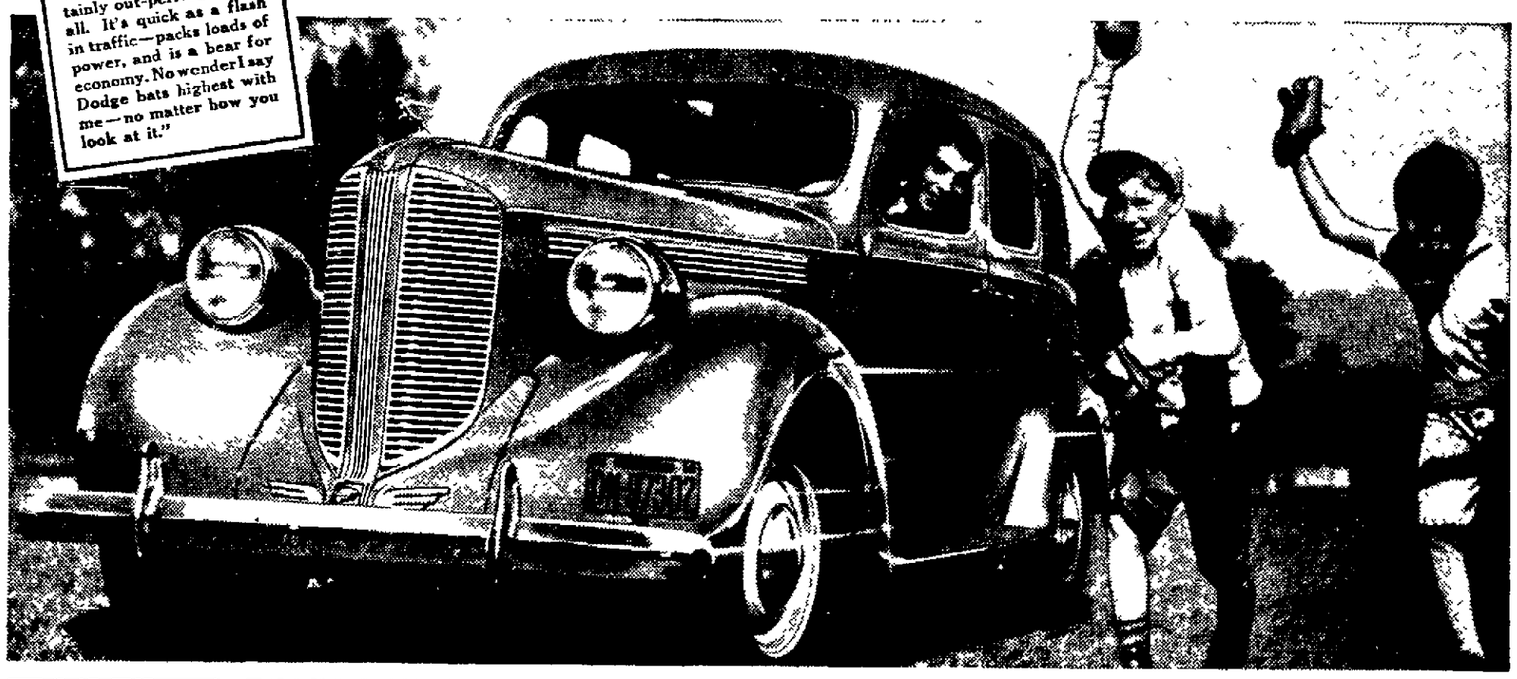
READ WHAT JOE DI MAGGIO, FAMOUS NEW YORK YANKEES' HOME-RUN HITTER, SAYS:
"I've driven a lot of cars in my time, but I must say my new Dodge certainly out-performs them all. It's quick as a flash in traffic—packs loads of power, and is a bear for economy. No wonder I say Dodge bats highest with me—no matter how you look at it."
"BATS HIGHEST WITH ME!"
THAT'S WHAT Joe DiMaggio SAYS ABOUT THE NEW DODGE


"BIG-LEAGUE CAR"
THANK YOU, Joe DiMaggio...your enthusiastic praise of the big, new Dodge will interest millions who love a great performance...whether it be a home-run blast on the ball field—or a thrilling ride in a "big league" car!
And "big league" car is right! For owners of the 1938 Dodge say you can sense this the very first time you take the wheel. Never before have you driven a car with the "pepper" and dash of this one. A car that's so alert on the get-away... so quick to leap out in front. There's no engine pondering...no mechanical meditation. When you say "go" to this car—she's GONE!
Dodge is safer, too. For it's built like a dreadnaught from chassis to top. You literally ride in a fortress of steel! And you have genuine hydraulic brakes that make you the complete master of every driving situation!
And don't you prefer to own a car that saves you money every mile you drive it? That's what Dodge economy means. Owners all over America say Dodge gives them from 18 to 24 miles to the gallon of gasoline, and saves up to 20% on oil!
But operating economy isn't all. Don't forget that famous Dodge price tag! Dodge actually costs far less than cars that do not give you as much...And, by the way, if you've been toying with the idea of buying a small car, you don't have to. Dodge is priced so close to the low-priced cars that you'll hardly notice the difference! No wonder owners say that Dodge is the best-priced car in America!

THE SECRET OF DODGE DEPENDABILITY
Have you ever wondered why Dodge cars have such a great reputation for dependability, ruggedness and long life? The answer lies in the fact that for years Dodge has deliberately engineered and built its cars not only for the first owner, but for the second, third and even fourth owners! In fact, records show that Dodge owners who buy new Dodge cars every year or two years use only a fraction of the total mileage built into them! That's just one reason why 142,922 new car buyers have switched from other cars to Dodge in the past year. And that's also why those who really know used car values are saying the Dodge used cars offered by Dodge dealers are the finest buys on the market!

STOCKS FALTER AFTER OPENING WITH ADVANCES

Initial Gains Cancelled in Many Cases as Buyers Fail to Follow Through.

(By Associated Press)

NEW YORK — Stocks tilted slightly upward in today's early market dealings, but buyers showed little inclination to follow through and intitial advances were soon cancelled in many cases.

The main encouragement derived by brokerage analysts from the slipshod performance was that volume dwindled almost to nothing on the set-back.

Bonds and commodities were narrow and mixed. High grade corporate loans were in moderate demand.

A restraining market influence was seen in a trade survey which disclosed stocks of finished goods held by manufacturers in the majority of industries still were materially higher than in 1937 despite widespread efforts to liquidate inventories.

Recovery proponents saw signs of a flattening out of the recession in estimates that last week's freight loadings, officially published tomorrow, enjoyed a contra-seasonal advance.

A drop of about 50 per cent in construction awards this week was rmeported by the Engineering News-Record.

All Work and No Play Makes a Man Dull

But No Work and No Play Is a Mighty Gloomy Outlook Says World's Tonic User

All work and no play makes Jack a dull boy. But to many of us no work automatically means no play because we have to work to earn a living and laying off with illness takes away what little surplus that might have been left for recreation. Mr. James Davidson of 618 Geiger Ave., S. W., Massillon, Ohio, relates.

"For a long time I've felt so bad that I never even thought about a little recreation or play. I was satisfied to struggle through my day's work and drag myself home as best I could or sit around or mope and feel sorry for myself. Of late I've had to lay off more and more because of poor condition and although by this time I was about reconciled to my lot of doing without much recreation now the prospect of less work and maybe none at all was a mighty gloomy outlook indeed. Constipation was the cause of all my ills and after a day's work I'd feel so stiff and sore all over. Many mornings after an almost sleepless night I'd have to rub myself good and hard for quite some time before I could put my feet on the floor. Even then there were times in the morning at work that I felt just like I would cave in.

"At times I'd go two or three days without a bowel movement and only then after taking some strong laxative. A nasty pain in my right side made it almost impossible to turn over in bed without an agonizing, stabbing ache. Often I broke out in night sweats. All day I'd be irritable and would fly off the handle at the least thing. Even small noises made me jumpy and I was becoming suspicious and avoiding people more and more. World's Tonic seems to have been creating quite a stir hereabouts lately so I decided to take one more chance and give it a try. Well, sir, the quick way it relieved my constipation astounded me. I got surprise after surprise at the number of my complaints that this was the cause of and was delighted at how these painful and aching results started going away.

"Right now I feel great and am working every day without any thought of laying off to rest up. From now on I'm going to get a little pleasure out of life too. If I catch any fish on the trip I'm taking next week-end I'm going to remember and thank World's Tonic for helping me."

World's Tonic is good for young and old. It contains no habit forming drugs or narcotics.

LEGAL NOTICE
RESOLUTION

The following is the tentative plan of redistricting of Richland County under the Foundation Program, approved by the State Director of Education and acted upon by the County Board of Education at their regular meeting, March 26, 1938. The same will be up for a hearing on April 30th, 1938, at 1:30 p. m. in the Common Pleas Court Room, Court House, Mansfield, Ohio:

Cass Village S. D. will consist of Cass Township and in Bloomingrove Township, Sections 5, 6, 7, 8, 17, 18, 19, 20, and 30, and the west half of sections 4, 9, 16, 21, and the NW quarter of section 28, and NE, NW, and SW quarters of section 29.

Union Rural S. D. will consist of the present Union Rural (Franklin and Weller Townships), Butler Township, and the following section from Bloomingrove Township: 3, 10, 15, 22, 27, 34, 33, 32, 31, and the east half of sections 4, 9, 16, 21, 28, and SW quarter of section 28 and the SE quarter of section 29.

The following School Districts will remain the same as set up in 1937: Bellville Village: Plymouth Village; Madison Rural; Mifflin Rural; Springfield Rural: Lexington Village; Monroe Rural: Butler Village: Washington Rural: and Sharon Rural.

This is to certify that the above is a true copy of the action of the Richland County Board of Education, March 26, 1938.

BOYD ROBINSON,
Clerk—Richland County
Board of Education.

THE STORY OF L'IL ABNER

THE scene of our story is the southern mountain town of Dogpatch. Our hero is a true hill-billy youth, six feet tall in his stockings—when he wears them. Customers, we present Li'l Abner Yokum.

Abner has been subconsciously a-courtin' our heroine, Daisy Mae Scraggs, since the time he first called a hawg. But most of the purposeful courtin' has been done by Daisy Mae. This love has bloomed in spite of the fact that the Yokums and Scraggs are blood enemies.

* * * *

Some time ago, Daisy Mae met with an accident which destroyed her sight. There was only one doctor in the United States who could cure her. Dr. Michael Paradise of Boston, having fallen in love with our heroine, agreed to perform the operation only upon the agreement that Abner would never see his blonde sweetheart again.

Abner agreed and went back to Dogpatch to his Mammy and Pappy, Pansy and Lucifer Yokum. He attempted to divert himself by wooing Belinda Bargrease, but his heart wasn't in the job.

* * * *

In Boston, Dr. Paradise was doing some wooing on his own—with fine clothes, a beautiful automobile, softly lighted cabarets. This and Li'l Abner's indifference to Daisy Mae won success for the doctor. On the afternoon that his engagement to her was announced, a couple of Daisy Mae's relatives from the hills dropped in to help celebrate the occasion. Their looks and manners shocked the doc. He forthwith set out on a solo trip to Europe. So Daisy Mae started back to Dogpatch with her cousins. They are eager to get back to their feuding. They hope specially to bag a Yokum, and most specially Li'l Abner.

* * * *

In a grim penitentiary Gat Garson—a dead ringer for Li'l Abner—is serving time for a collection of crimes. He has applied for a leave of absence. He has an idea which bodes no good for our hero.

Following the story on from here, starting tomorrow.

The body will remain at the funeral home.

SELF-SERVE

Buehler Market Opens Friday Under New System.

A completely remodeled "streamlined' food market will be formally opened to the public tomorrow as the Buehler Market, West Fourth street, adopts the self-serve system. It will be known as Buehler's Self-Serve market, according to Kieth Frary, manager.

The entire west side of the Fourth Street market building, from the street back to the restaurant, has been taken over by Buehler and made into a self-serve store.

The walls and counters have been redecorated in white and the shelves form a continuous line on two sides, with cross shelves. As a shopper enters, he is provided with a wire basket and may go along the counters choosing the articles he wants. There will be "courtesy men" at hand for several days to assist patrons.

To install the self-serve system, which has come into vogue in recent years, it was necessary to change the entire market, and increase the stock of merchandise, Frary said.

A meat market has been added, which will be in charge of Frank Derringer.

MAYOR ACTS TO REMOVE COPPER

Says Patrolman 'Mentally Ill' Through—Seeks to Have Guardian Appointed.

months might restore the patrolman to normal health.

Anderson conferred with county commissioners yesterday on a plan to send Copper to a private institution for an indeterminate period.

In the meantime city officials made a definite move towards the removal of Copper from the police department. City Solicitor Marion D. Ward, instructed by Mayor Hunter yesterday, said he had asked Judge Anderson to appoint a guardian for the officer. Ward said he had been promised that one would be named, but the judge did not say when the action would be taken.

Hunter said he had asked for a guardian so that notice of dismissal might be served on the officer held in jail since the Easter day shooting in which he threatened the life of his wife and four children with his service revolver.

It was also pointed out by the solicitor that in order for Copper to apply for a sick leave of 90 days, he would need a guardian, for the officer was held incapable of making the request himself.

Should the request for a sick leave be made to Service-Safety Director Tracy C. Styert, it would be passed on to the civil service commission for approval. A 30-day sick leave with pay can be taken without the approval of the commission.

Three police officers who were called to the mayor's office by Chief Bates this morning were to meet with the city solicitor this afternoon to submit testimony concerning the status of Patrolman Russell Miles, who has been confined to his home with a nervous breakdown for the past two weeks.

Mayor Hunter said that questioning by the chief revealed that Miles' nervous disorder did not fit him for work in the department.

DUKE, DUCHESS 'SETTLE DOWN'

Sign 3-Year Lease on Chateau Near Cannes, France.

CANNES, France — (U.P.) — The Duke and Duchess of Windsor have decided to divide their time between Paris and the Riviera for a long time to come, it was announced today.

They arrived here yesterday to sign a three-year lease on the Chateau La Croye, at Cap D'Antibes, owned by Sir Pomeroy Burton, retired London journalist, who, born in the United States, was naturalized in Great Britain in 1916, and knighted in 1923.

It was understood that the duke and duchess intended to spend most of their time on the Riviera, and the rest at their leased villa in Versailles outside Paris.

ROOSEVELT AND BORAH DISCUSS MONOPOLY LAWS

President Summons Senator to Meeting as Congress Remains in Deadlock.

(By United Press)

WASHINGTON—President Roosevelt called Sen. William E. Borah, (R-Ida.), to the White House today for possible discussion of tax and monopoly issues in the face of continuing congressional deadlock on the tax revision bill.

Showdown on the bitter dispute between house and senate tax conferees over the question of repeal of the undistributed profits tax and drastic modification of the capital gains levy was delayed at least until next week by decision of congressional leaders to recess over the week-end at conclusion of today's sessions of the house and senate.

Possible significance was seen in Borah's visit for luncheon at the White House with President Roosevelt in the fact that the president is preparing to submit message to congress on two issues in which Borah is vitally interested.

Message Due Monday.

Mr Roosevelt probably will send to congress on Monday a request for study of legislation to lift tax exemption from governmental bonds and reciprocal taxation of state and federal employes' income. He is expected to follow this, somewhat later in the session, with a suggestion for study of monopoly problems.

Borah sponsored an amendment attached to the tax revision bill by the senate to end tax exemption of future issues of federal securities. The administration is said to feel that removal of exemption should be made simultaneously on both state and federal issues to avoid discrimination

Decision to recess congress until Monday left no hope that the tax conference deadlock could be broken before next week.

Senate conferees claimed national support in their fight against the undistributed profits tax and for the modified form of capital gains in view of the report of the senate unemployment and relief committee in which enactment of the senate bill was demanded as a move "exceedingly helpful" to recovery.

The attitude of the senate conferees indicated that hopes for a compromise before the test vote were slight.

The most likely compromise suggested was senate agreement to restoration of the house "skeleton" of the undistributed profits tax and retention of senate modifications of the capital gains levy.

CONDUCT TESTS

ASHLAND — The county high school elimination tests to be held at the Ashland high school building Saturday morning, April 23, at 9 a m., will attract 185 students, it has been announced here by O. H Maffet, county school superintendent.

The tests are being held in Ashland to determine what high school students will represent Ashland county in the district tests to be held at Kent State university on May 7

ATTEND MEETING

ASHLAND — City and county officials who were to attend a meeting in Columbus today and Friday called by State Auditor Joseph T. Ferguson, include chairman of the board of county commissioners Clayton Harmon, County Auditor F E Wicks, County Engineer L. G Shenberger. Mayor W. Art Mason of Ashland, and Lottie Westover, Ashland finance director.

Princess Has a Birthday Today, But Party's Out

WINDSOR, Eng. — (U.P.) — Princess Elizabeth who some day may be Elizabeth II, queen of Great Britain and Empress of India, celebrated her 12th birthday anniversary today.

Only official recognition was the flying of flags from all public buildings in England and throughout the empire.

King George and Queen Elizabeth considered the heir presumptive's celebration purely a private affair. They particularly did not wish their eldest daughter to get a "swell head" over her station in life.

HEADS CENTRAL TRAFFIC CLUB

G. A. Swineford, Official at Empire, Named President at Marion Meeting.

George A. Swineford, traffic manager of the Empire Sheet and Tin Plate company, was elected president of the Central Ohio Traffic club at the annual meeting last night at Marion.

Swineford, one of a delegation of eight Mansfielders who attended the session, succeeds Edward Waterman of Cincinnati C. D. Smith of Cleveland was elected secretary-treasurer of the organization: W. J. Brennan, Cleveland, first vice president, and R. M. Boffenmyer of Ashland, second vice president

E. B. Hankey, Pittsburgh, assistant general freight agent for the Pennsylvania railroad, was toastmaster at the dinner meeting.

In the Mansfield delegation, besides Swineford were C K Smaltz, traffic manager of the Mansfield Tire and Rubber company; R. L. Alger, traffic manager of Ohio Brass company; Claud Robison, Westinghouse traffic manager; J. E. Young, Pennsylvania railroad passenger and freight agent; J. F. Long, agent for the Michigan Motor Freight lines; and C. N. Shultz, retired Pennsylvania freight agent.

The club will hold its June dinner meeting and annual golf outing at the Westbrook country club here.

1 DEAD, 4 HURT

CHICAGO—(AP)—One man was killed and four others were injured last night when four cars of a Chicago, Rock Island and Pacific freight train plunged off a 20-foot viaduct onto a busy highway near suburban Oak Forest.

Railroad officials said a broken axle caused the wreck.

MEHOCK ENTERS OWN TEAM, TOO

Relays Founder Almost Forgot Entry List of Tygers in All Excitement.

the other schools had been filed before it came to light that the school that has participated in more relays than any other had not entered. That team was Mehock's own.

So the Tyger coach went to work in a hurry. He called his squad together and immediately held trials to qualify his better athletes for the relays.

Then Mehock, in an embarressed voice, called the newspaper office to announce the entry of another team.

"Add Mansfield to the list of entries," he said, then hung up the phone before he was asked to explain the reason for the delay of the entry.

So Mansfield is again a participant in the big relays and now everything is set for Saturday.

MAN, 77, RESCUED

Marion Resident Trapped In Fence For Nine Hours.

MARION —(AP)— Houston Manley, 77, thought he would save time by taking a short cut while on a fishing trip. As he attempted to climb a fence, one foot became entangled in the wire and he was trapped for nine hours, his head and shoulders resting on the ground. Neighbors rescued him.

ENTER BAND FESTIVAL

SHELBY — Approximately 65 members of the Shelby high school band will participate in the annual band festival Friday afternoon and evening at Upper Sandusky, Maurice Davis, director, said today.

'OPEN HOUSE'

Band Holds Final Rehearsal Before State Contest.

The Mansfield Senior high school band will hold "open house" at a rehearsal scheduled for 7:30 p. m. today in the high school auditorium.

This rehearsal, according to J. Merton Holcombe, director, will be one of the last to be held before the band leaves for Columbus Saturday morning to participate in the state high school band contest at Ohio State university.

Tonight's rehearsal has been thrown open to the public so that those who will not be able to go to Columbus can hear the band.

The band will present the same program to be played in the state contest, and the same played at the district contest in Bowling Green in March, where the band placed second, giving it the right to play in the state contest.

The program includes, "Sousa's Triumphal March," "Slavonic Rhapsody," the state required number, and "Beatrice and Benedict," the band's selected number, which also is the selected number for the national contest.

KEEPS HIS FORM

Sandy Herd, 70, Shoots 6 Under Par In British Meet.

LONDON—(AP)—Sandy Herd, former British open champion who will be 70 years old next Sunday, shot a sensational 67, six under par, over the Moor Park west course today in the $5,000 Rickmansworth open golf championship.

Sandy, who is the home club professional, went out with a spectacular 30, six under par. Getting word of the old man's great game the gallerites deserted Henry Cotton and Jim Adams to follow him.

GET SUSPENDED PRISON TERMS

Hiawatha Edmonson and Horace Triggs, 366 Oak street, both colored, were given one-year suspended workhouse sentences by Judge C J. Anderson in probate court yesterday when they pleaded guilty to charges of contributing to the delinquency of a minor.

The pair admitted receiving 29 quarts of motor oil stolen from an Oak street address by a 15-year-old colored youth

Judge Anderson placed them under a three-year probation and ordered them to report to probation officers each month

SWP

SWP makes houses young again

● No wonder the Mrs. waxed romantic and the Mr stuck out his chest! SWP takes years off the age of any house. There's no more beautiful house paint made. Nor one that protects better or longer. Economical, too. Covers 800 square feet at a cost of less than ½c per square foot. SWP retains its smoothness and many people wash SWP houses with soap and water keeping them looking new year after year. That's why more homes are painted with SWP than with any other brand of paint. Drop in at our store today and see our card of 32 beautiful SWP colors.

SIMPSON TIMES WINS AGAIN IN PRESS CONTEST

Tops 24 Other Junior High Publications In Columbia University Event.

The John Simpson Times, student newspaper at John Simpson Junior high school, for the tenth consecutive year was awarded first place among junior high school publications by the Columbia Scholastic Press association of Columbia university, Edwin Fensch, editorial advisor of the paper, was informed today.

The paper was selected as a first place winner from among 24 other publications entered from schools having an attendance of 1,200 or more, scoring a total of 870 points out of a possible 1,000.

Winning Is Old Story.

In 1937 the Times won a first place ranking by the association, placing third in points among the other first place winners. The paper also was awarded first place last year in the National Scholastic Press association of the University of Minnesota.

The Times ranked high in variety of news covered, ingenuity in finding feature stories, in sports writing and proof reading, reports of the Columbia contest said.

Papers judged by the association were published during the first semester of the 1937-38 school year. At that time Lee Adams was editor-in-chief and Julia Fishback assistant. Miss Fishback is now editor of the publication. Business adviser of the Times is Nelson Neff.

The Northwest Ordinance

Education Assured By Terms of Ordinance, and States Still Furnish It

"Religion, morality and knowledge being necessary to the good government and the happiness of mankind, schools and the means of education shall forever be encouraged."

By HARRY J. DOTSON
Principal, John Simpson Junior High School.

The most notable sentence in the Ordinance of 1787 is the following:

"Religion, morality, and knowledge, being necessary to good government and the happiness of mankind, schools and the means of education shall forever be encouraged."

In 1787, over most of the face of the earth, education found very little encouragement; but the authors of the Northwest Ordinance realized that knowledge is the surest basis of public happiness.

These men had staked their lives and fortunes in fighting for independence; they had, with tremendous personal sacrifice, devoted their energies and talents in seeking free government. Is it any wonder that they erected the mighty bulwark of education to insure and maintain democratic government?

"Schools and the means of education" became a vital necessity. They wished to stress political and moral education. In the first place, they realized that man to govern himself must understand his problems; and understanding results from education. And in the second place, they realized that "Character" individual integrity, personal honor, and individual responsibility for public welfare, is a result of moral instruction.

* * *

To them a democratic society was impossible without education; and so they included Article III in the ordinace. And they demanded that the terms contained in an earlier ordinace, that of 1785 which set aside certain sections for the benefit of schools, be reaffirmed. In 1795, just after General Wayne's treaty with the men at Greenville, two college townships were surveyed. In 1802 the legislature of the Northwest Territory passed an act establishing a university at Athens.

* * *

Today, each of the states carved from the Northwest Territory maintains at public expense a great state university, and the pattern set by the Ordinance of 1787 has resulted in a nationwide system of colleges and universities aided by grants of public lands. This entire principle has produced the broadest plan of universal education in the world, and is thereby the most essential aid to the existence of democratic government.

The cornerstone of democracy is education. The preservation of both is vital to the happiness of ourselves and our posterity.

BROKEN WINDOWS NO BOTHER HERE

Carolina Residents Just Get Mica and Replace Them.

SPRUCE PINE, N. C.—(AP)—If a window pane gets broken, folks in this mica-bearing mountain section don't have to go to the store and buy a new one.

They can go out and find a large piece of mica—or isinglass—peel it off to the right thickness, cut it to the correct size and use it. Mica is found in chunk-like layers of thin transparent sheets, which bend and do not break easily.

Many mountain families have window panes made of it but glass is generally preferred for the purpose since it is firmer and stronger.

It's Odd

But It's Science.

BERKELEY, Calif. —(AP)— In the excitement about movie stars dodging California's floods, nobody said anything about what was to become of the dirt and rocks washed down the hillsides.

But one man in California knows. He is Andrew C. Lawson, professor of geology at the University of California. He found out by studying river deltas, and some of the findings were interesting.

Deltas are where all the muck, rock and other erosion ultimately land. Dr. Lawson measured what actually happened along 18,000 miles of seacoast. He learned that the delta which sightseers can view is just a tiny bit of the real deposits of rivers.

Beneath the water, the deltas extend on the average of 30 miles out to sea. The depth to their bottoms isusually around two miles. After the thickness piles up to six or seven miles, the delta usually sinks.

That is, its weight causes formation of a deep trough. This geologists call a geosyncline Later, the contents of this trough are likely to be squeezed up by earth forces and appear as mountains rising above the sea.

GALION—A pedestrian, Howard Buchanan of the Dawsett road, was struck by a bicycle ridden by Lester Caris, on Harding Way East here Tuesday evening. Buchanan received a gash over his eye and on his nose, and was treated by a physician.

History Teacher Wins Distinction With Her Poetry

Margaret E. Tinsley, history teacher at Senior high school, won an unusual distinction this month when the entire poetry page of the Wellesley Magazine was given over to her work.

Only the poetry of Wellesley alumnae is published in the magazine and ordinarily only one poem from an author is carried on the page.

The poetry page in the April issue carries seven of Miss Tinsley's poems, and an appreciation by the editor, Elizabeth W. Manwaring, in which she says: Margaret Tinsley, M. A. 1931, shows vigor and independence in her poetic ideas, strength of imagery, and often an interesting command of meter."

Miss Tinsley's poems are in the style and thought of Edna St. Vincent Millay and the late Sara Teasdale. She finds time along with her school work to write prose also and has had several items published, among them a Sunday full page feature in a Cleveland paper.

ITALIANS BUILD TWO NEW TOWNS IN BAD LANDS

Pomezia Will Rise Out of Marshes; Carbonia Being Built in Coal Area.

ROME—(U.P.)—Two new towns, one industrial, the other rural, will be born in Italy within the next few months.

One is actually under construction, the other will be founded on April 22, when Premier Benito Mussolini will lay its cornerstone.

The former's name is Carbonia (from the Italian "carbone") or "Coal City." The latter is named Pomezia and is derived from Suessa Pometia of the Volscians and Romans, also built in the Pontine area.

Carbonia is rising on the southwesternmost tip of the island of Sardinia over a site which was a scene of desolation, covered with thick bushes and countless rosemary and hawthorn plants, a haven for game hunters.

Pomezia will be the fifth town to rise in the former Pontine wastelands. On April 25, 1936, after plowing a furrow to mark the symbolical foundation of Aprilia, the fourth town to be built in the former marshes, Mussolini, in a speech, announced that Pomezia would be inaugurated on Oct. 29, 1939.

Due to the clockwork precision with which the reclamation of the Pontine areas has been so far carried out is maintained, it is believed certain that everything will proceed in accordance with Il Duce's orders.

In the words of Mussolini the inauguration of Pomezia will conclude the huge undertaking represented by the reclamation. "Only then," he said in that speech, "will our work here be accomplished and another victory will be added to those which the Italian people have been longing for in these past few years and which they have fully deserved."

Pomezia will rise on the exact site where Aenes, the son of Venus and Anchises and the hero of Vergil's "Aeneid," traced the furrow for the foundation of Lavinium, the first town of the new Italian people.

Pomezia, like its four sister towns, will be a civic center composed of town hall, church, police station, Fascist headquarters, cinema, postoffice, hotel, a number of restaurants and sundry goods stores.

Book of the Week

"FIRST CLASS PASSENGER," edited by August Mencken (Knopf; $3.)

* * *

Such is the monopolistic quality of fame that most readers probably have no idea at all that H. L. Mencken has a brother. This is a fact, however. His name is August Mencken, and he also has a sense of humor, and a consuming interest. August Mencken's consuming interest is not the booboisie like his brother's but ships.

He has compiled a most amusing book about ships, the which has been published in due course by Brother H. L.'s publisher. The book is called "First Class Passenger," and quite oddly, that is an exact description of the cantent. Mr. Mencken is an engineer by profession, which may possibly account for this precision.

The idea is simple. The book is made up of narritives written by first class passengers on a variety of boats, the latest of which is one by Ed Howe concerning a trip from Australia to South Africa in 1913, and the earliest the narrative of Jonah's famous voyage a good many centuries ago. Chronologocally, the book is put together backward, with Howe's story first, and Jonah's last. This is a help, it may be added.

Mr. Mencken has found nothing written earlier than the 15th century which he can call a narrative by a first class passenger. Instead he has included pieces such as Felix Fabri's account of his voyage to the Holy Land; speaking of the Holy Land, it should be added that there is another excerpt dealing with the same voyage, though from a different starting point.

This is from Mark Twain's immortal "Innocents Abroad," which has to do with the first cruise ship—the "Quaker City" which in 1867 took a party from New York to the Mediterranean. This was a very remarkable excursion, and the account of the ship and its equipment for the sea-faring innocents might almost be taken from the current record.

There is more than merely amusement in Mr. Mencken's book. One can get out of it a pretty fair history of passenger carrying by ship. And beyond that, one can see how a diverse assemblage reacted toward this pursuit. The reactions seem to run rather true to a set pattern in all ages.—By J. S.

BUILD 2 MORE

Burkhart Starts Work on New Woodland Apartments.

The construction of two more four-family apartments on Crescent road with a total valuation of $24,000, was revealed today with the issuance of two building permits at city building to the Burkhart Lumber company.

The two brick veneer structures will be built at 543-555 Crescent road at the cost of $12,000 each. Each unit will consist of four five-room apartments.

The first apartment was completed by the company last fall and is now occupied. The second block, which is already under way, will be ready for occupancy Oct. 1, and the third by Dec. 1.

A building permit was also issued to E. J. Willis, rear of 12 Western avenue, for residence alterations to cost $700 and John Knapp, 67 Myers avenue to remodel his home at the cost of $250.

DRY GUILLOTINE, by Rene Belbenoit. Dutton, $3.

SUBSCRIPTION RATES—By Mail: Richland and adjoining counties per year, $4.00; 6 months, $2.25; 3 months, $1.25, (in advance), elsewhere in Ohio per year, $6.00, in U. S. outside of Ohio, per year, $7.00. By Carrier, per week, 15c.

THURSDAY, APRIL 21, 1938.

Use of cod liver oil has tripled in ten years—although some folks still prefer their sunshine direct.

That Kentucky primary contest between "Dear Alben" and "Happy" Chandler should prove a very delightful affair.

According to recent research, mice will drink themselves to death, if given a chance—in which trait they seem to have some human counterparts.

High Cost of Elections.

CRITICISM of the high cost of elections in Richland county must be passed along to the state laws governing primaries and elections, rather than being regarded as a reflection on the county board of elections.

The whole set-up of election machinery in Ohio has encouraged waste of public money and has the appearance of being largely intended to provide a few days of remunerative employment for favored party workers rather than to effect economies or increase efficiency.

There has been, for instance, the ridiculous requirement for holding primaries which involved no contests, and for other nonsensical procedure that tended to increase costs without serving any necessary purpose.

Secretary of State William J. Kennedy deserves credit for his worthy ambition to pare a quarter of a million dollars a year from Ohio's election costs. Any official voice raised in behalf of economy in these days of unexampled waste of public money commands admiration.

Youthful Athletes Come Saturday.

MANSFIELD is again looking forward with much interest to the banner interscholastic event of the mid-west—the Mansfield Relays, to be staged Saturday at Stadium field.

More than 1,100 schoolboy track and field athletes from nearly one hundred schools of Ohio, Michigan, Kentucky, New York, West Virginia and Pennsylvania will compete in the thin-clad circus, which has become recognized as "America's largest independent interscholastic event."

Relays day in Mansfield might be compared, on a smaller scale, with Derby day in Louisville. Mansfielders have become as accustomed to watching young, human thoroughbreds burn up the cinder paths as have Kentuckians to glimpsing the ponies pound homeward in a stimulating and nerve-tingling finale.

The Mansfield event has been the proving ground of many athletes who went on to win greater fame in college and universities—even the Olympics. Notable among the former Relays stars is Jesse Owens, U. S. hero of the last Olympic in Berlin.

Mansfield this year will play host to the most schools ever entered in an independent event of this type in the nation. Included in the field will be 20 schools from outside of the borders of the state.

Increase in popularity of the Relays is a tribute to one man—Harry E. Mehock, assistant athletic director of Mansfield high school, who established the event twelve years ago.

Under Mehock's careful planning and ability to conduct such a mammoth event without a hitch, the Relays has grown into a project that attracts the interest of all Ohio and neighboring states.

Few collegiate track meets rival the Mansfield affair for sheer color and flash. This city may well be proud of being the site of this major athletic event.

Bucyrus Proposes Zoning Ordinance.

AS our neighboring city of Bucyrus moves, with high hopes, toward establishing a city planning commission and adopting a zoning ordinance, it might not be amiss for well-wishers of this progressive step to send a committee to Mansfield to gather information as to how NOT to proceed with preliminaries leading up to a zoning ordinance.

Such a committee would learn that as much as twenty years ago Mansfield was looking forward hopefully to a zoning ordinance and went ahead confidently and expensively through the process of having an elaborate survey made and zoning provisions set up in ordinance form.

Such an ordinance, if then adopted and enforced, would have been of almost immeasurable value to the city as a whole, but would have, in occasional instances, worked to the financial disadvantage of individual property owners in some of the residential sections where zoning would have prevented encroachment of business.

While there was quite general agreement on the zoning ordinance, in principle, there were so many individual objections from persons who would have been affected by some phase of the ordinance, that the whole matter was finally shoved aside by council.

But any study that Bucyrus officials may make of Mansfield's zoning ordinance faux pas should not be discouraging—many cities have effective and beneficial zoning restrictions, the advantages of which are evident to even the casual observer. Bucyrus may as well get the idea, at the start-off, that if a zoning ordinance is to be worth-while, it cannot be drafted in a way that will please everybody.

Help for China.

AN official of the British treasury told the house of commons the other day that if British banks asked the government for permission to lend to China, such requests would be sympathetically considered. At the same time it became known that the chancellor of the exchequer was encouraging long-term loans to the Chinese government.

Thus Great Britain, which long stood aloof from the Asiatic war and was apparently resigning China to Japanese conquest, now prepares to come to the rescue. There may have been some secret cooperation before, but the present helpful attitude, while avoiding active participation in the war, is open.

It not only shows a friendly interest in Chinese success, but suggests that the long-headed statesmen who guide the destinies of the British Empire have decided that the Chinese, after all, have a chance to win.

A beer store in Missouri was ordered to move 300 feet farther from a college campus—but that's only a short drive.

Keeping Step

—By LESLIE EICHEL

IT'S ALWAYS a delight to read the "Court Circular" column in the London Times. This column proves that there is a certain part of the world which does not change. Some will say that this is not so good. They may be correct. But at least we enjoy the column.

Of course, the King always is mentioned first, viz:

"The King this morning received the Sultan of Muscat and Oman."

Very simple, just like that.

Next.

"The Lord Nigel Douglas-Hamilton had the honour of being received by His Majesty, upon his appointment as Commissioner for the Special Areas in Scotland."

Then, skipping the remainder of the King's day, we come to a formidable and portentous dash. And underneath that dash, other folk are discussed, in accordance with their social rank.

First:

"The Duke of Gloucester is 38 today."

The Duke, as you know, is King George's brother.

Next we come to an ultra-society lady (judging by her rank in the column):

"The Marchioness of Sligo, who is returning from India by air, expects to arrive at 7, Upper Belgrave Street on Saturday."

It is in this vicinity that the King lived as the Duke of York.

* * *

SOCIETY NOTES

Now we shall skip a few and pick at random:

"Viscount at Viscountess Chetwynd have returned to 30, East Saint Helens, Abingdon, after their motor tour of India."

Automobiles are not so numerous in England as in the United States, and t he price of gasoline in India is something to write home about.

"Lord and Lady Hotham will return to England towards the end of April from California."

Many of the most aristocratic of Britishers now pass the winter in California or Florida or Bermuda—especially since the past two winters of unpleasantness with Italy over control of the Mediterranean.

"Lady Sysonby has arrived at Bath from Pendogget House, Timsbury, Somerset."

Pure society note, that.

"Mrs. Irene Lysaght has now disposed of her flat, 60, Park Lane. All letters will be forwarded."

Park Lane is London's equivalent to New York's Park avenue.

"The Duchess of Kent has promised to attend the annual Rose ball, in aid of Alexandra Day, to be held at Grosvenor House on June 8. The Hon. Mrs. Leslie Gamae is chairman of the ball committee."

When a sister-in-law of the King attends, the ticket sale rises.

IN U. S. A.

Of course we have our own social distinction in the United States.

It is with a shock we read of prisoners at Sing Sing tipping their caps to Richard Whitney, sent to the penitentiary from five to ten years for stealing millions.

One or two even went without bedding the first night or two to provide this aristocrat with linens, greatly embarrassing the man.

Others even too tried to give Mr. Whitney their meals!

But, more important, we read in testimony before the Federal Security and Exchange Commission (SEC) that high officials of the New York Stock Exchange, even when they learned of Whitney's irregularities tried in every possible manner to straighten them out rather than end the man's wild career immediately. They seemed in awe of this man who five times was president of the Stock Exchange, who was known as the "Morgan broker" and whose brother is a partner in the J. P. Morgan & Co. firm. In fact, they expected this brother to straighten out everything . . . but even he could not pour enough millions into the rathole to do any good.

If ever there was an argument for regulation of Wall Street by the federal government it is appearing in the words of Stock Exchange leaders themselves as they testify concerning the Whitney affair. Speculators simply will not regulate themselves.

They all are saying that it is fortunate "the public was not caught" in Whitney's speculations—merely wealthy folk, institutions and his family. But imagine in how many unseen ways the public is caught, year after year, in Wall Street.

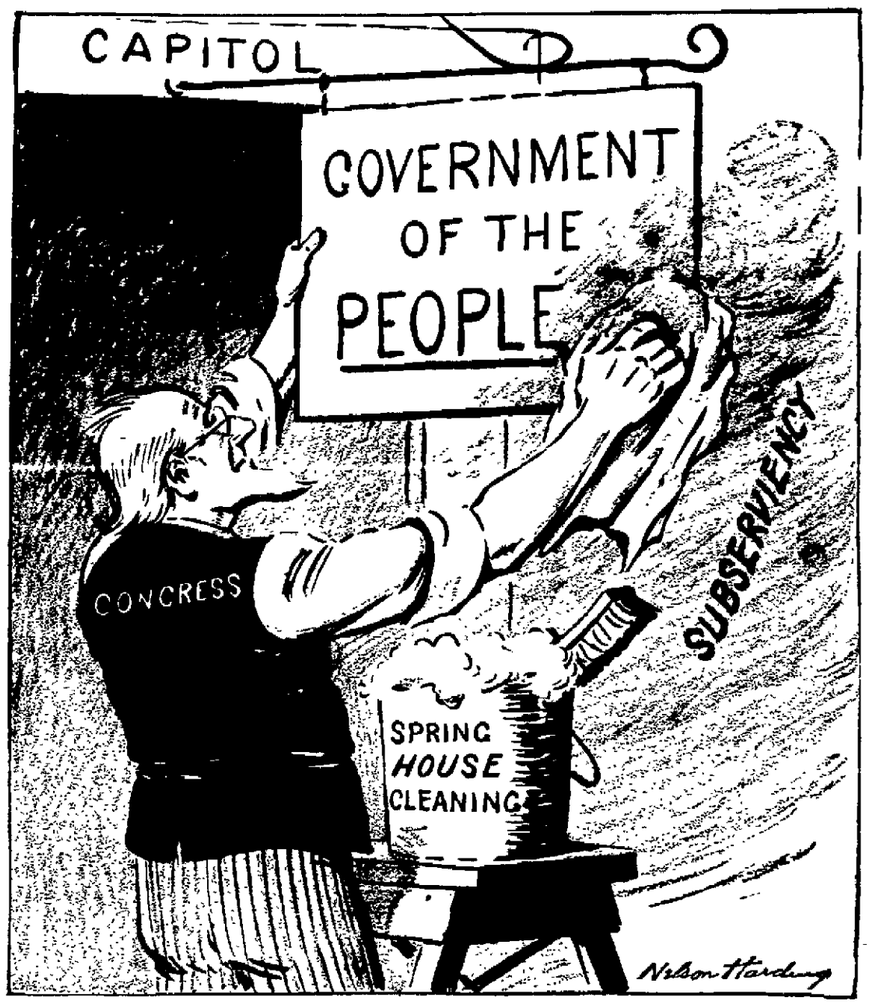
DUSTING OFF THE OLD SHINGLE



Publicity as Political Factor

—By CHARLES P. STEWART

WASHINGTON — Franklyn Waltman's recent appointment to the publicity directorship of the Republican national committee was an event of first-class political importance.

The G. O. P.'s publicity never has been of much consequence in the past.

Some fine chaps and excellent writers have handled it, but they all have been poor selections for jobs as political press agents.

For example:

In President Coolidge's day, the party press relations were managed mostly by Everett Sanders one of the White House secretaries. Sanders had been a creditable congressman, was very likable and knew politics well. But he was a lawyer, without a day's newspaper experience in his life. President Hoover's first press chief was George Barr Baker, whose principal claim to a journalistic past was his record as editor of a woman's magazine, the Delineator. He was a good editor, too, but his lack of political knowledge would have filled a big book.

* * *

PUBLICITY LAPSED

And so on. I do not like to mention too many names.

The Republican high command also made the mistake of failing to keep its publicity going between campaigns.

Its method was to get into action only a few months before election day, keep it up until after the returns had been counted and then let it lapse for hard onto four years more.

* * *

DEMOCRATS KEPT GOING

The Democrats did much the same thing prior to Al Smith's defeat in 1928.

That time they did exactly the right thing.

They got busy at once, with a view to 1932. Say what one will of Jouett Shouse, with his subsequent Liberty league; he hired Charles Michelson, and he and Charley had a lot to do with the 1932 result. Circumstances helped them, to be sure, but they overlooked no publicity bets meanwhile

Also in the meantime the G. O. P. bungled along.

It simply has not been much good. It did not stand much chance during the first Roosevelt term. It was a fizzle during the 1936 campaign. It has not made the most of itself, thus far, since the Roosevelt "recession" began.

* * *

AS STEWART SEES IT

The Hoover "depression" furnished Michelson with the opportunity for his "smear" activities.

That was all right. There was something to "smear" and he was entitled to "smear" it. But now Charley's side is in the position of being "smeared." Is Charley as competent to defend his position as a "smearee" as he was to push his advantage as a "smear-ER?"

No, he isn't, from all indications—against an efficient "smear-ER."

He has not overly well defended the administration against attacks upon it on Capital Holl.

Anti-administration attacks have not been overly well publicized, either.

What they "need" is vigorous publicity to rub them in.

* * *

NOW——

Now—Franklyn Waltman is a good man to attend to this task.

Franklyn is no "smearer." He is a constructive guy. He is a dandy newspaperman, and politics has been his specialty. He is as bright as Charley Michelson.

He is the first competition that Charley ever has had.

The country doesn't know him very well yet.

His "stuff" has been confined to the Baltimore Sun and the Washington Post. Now the Republican national committee aims to syndicate him.

He and Charley Michelson will be worth listening to.

Looking Back

TWENTY YEARS AGO TODAY

Sunday, April 21, 1918.

Tally sheet of an election held in Monroe township in 1825 was presented to Memorial building museum.

F. M. Hinds, of Springfield, Mass., was selected as Y. M. C. A. physical director, to succeed Floyd Dent, who enlisted for aviation service.

Patriotic service for honor roll men was held at First Presbyterian church.

Daughter was born to Mr. and Mrs. P. G. Ross, of the Carpenter & Ross farm.

Mansfield delegation attended ninety-ninth anniversary of Tiro Odd Fellows lodge.

Billie Burke in "Arms and The Girl" was screen attraction at the Majestic.

FIVE YEARS AGO TODAY

Friday, April 21, 1933.

Herbert Johnson received minor head bruises when a car struck him.

Miss Henrietta Frank was elected president of the Art Study club.

A daughter was born to Mr. and Mrs. G. W. Herring, 137 Sturges avenue.

Miss Anna Geyer, 26 Vannum avenue, lost her purse containing $30, and found it several hours later.

Ralph Bowie, United States Marine, was spending a furlough with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. William Bowie, 88 Rowland avenue.

You and Your Nation's Affairs

Pot Calls the Kettle Black.

By ELLIOT JONES
Professor of Transportation and Public Utilities, Stanford U.

Every now and then officials in Russia denounce fascism in Germany and Italy, and high officials in Germany and Italy denounce communism in Russia, but this is a case of "the pot calling the kettle black." Though there are some differences between communism and fascism as a form of political and economic organization, and some differences in conditions in the three countries, a comparison of the communist country and the two fascist countries reveals a remarkable similarity in policies.

This fundamental similarity becomes clear if one reads Chamberlin's Collectivism: A False Utopia. Mr. Chamberlin, as foreign correspondent for the Christian Science Monitor, spent 12 years in the Soviet Union, and a shorter period in Germany. He thus had an excellent opportunity to inform himself with regard to foreign conditions, and having left these countries he was free to tell what he learned, as he would not have been had he remained.

In all three countries the system of government is by means of a single party; the organization of an opposition party, or an opposing group within the ruling party, would be regarded as counter-revolution, and ruthlessly repressed. In each country there has emerged a powerful and infallible Vozhd, Feuhrer, or Duce (to use the Russia, German, and Italian terms for leader), and the leader exercises the same authority over the party that the party exercises over the country. In each country preparation for war has imposed on the people a tremendous burden of debt and taxation and waste of human and material resources.

In none of the three countries is there freedom of press, speech, thought, or religion. All the agencies of propaganda are monopolized by the state, and from the cradle to the grave the people hear and read, through the radio, the press, the schools, and the movies, what the leaders want them to hear and read, and nothing else. All propaganda agencies spread far and wide the same brand of political, economic, and social doctrine.

All three dictatorships are implacably anti-intellectual. Those who think independently and who venture to express honest criticism are regarded as a menace, for there must be no rational appraisal of the system, no sober deflation of the highly magnified claims of the powers that be. The intelligentsia must therefore be throttled or exiled.

In each country there is a well-developed system of espionage, many secret executions without public trials, and wholesale brutality in the concentration camps.

As David Lloyd George recently said, after a visit to Germany, "Fascism as extolled by Mussolini, Nazism as practiced by Hitler, and Bolshevism as exploited by Stalin reveal to me no fundamental differences. Liberty is just as remote in Germany and Italy as in Russia."

In all three countries there is much glorification of labor when it comes to speech-making, and frequent references to the ennobling character of physical toil. But none of these countries has done well by labor in providing the material comforts of life, and none of them permits freedom of trade-union organization as we know it in the United States.

In all three countries the leaders assert that individualism and democracy are outmoded.

How It Started

—By JEAN NEWTON

"She's No Chicken."

"She's no chicken," we hear, and sometimes "she's no spring chicken!" And perhaps we are guilty not only of hearing but of using this expression which has an unquestionable taint of vulgarity!

Its origin? To what could it possibly be attributed but the cruel inventiveness of modern slang!

Not so. The prying eye of investigation and research is disillusioning. "She's no chicken" has a time-honored literary origin! Its author was none other than the immortal Jonathan Swift, author of Gulliver's Travels, whose seventeenth and early eighteenth century work make "modern" reading! It is in his "Polite Conversation" that we find:

"She's no chicken; she's on the wrong side of thirty, if she be a day!" That may not seem to us to be polite conversation, but it appears in Dialogue I of Swift's work of that title.

Listen, World!

How Often Do You Dare Be Natural?

—By ELSIE ROBINSON

REMEMBER how sharp and sweet life was at sixteen, Eleanor? How vividly you saw beauty . . . how keenly you felt ecstasy or pain?

And you, Bill, look back. Think of that first night you and Pete slept out beneath the stars . . . the stinging joy of waking in the hush of dawn, with the tumbling roar of the brook in your ears and the thrill of the new fishpole in your shaking hand!

How real life was then! How deeply you felt it all, with every sense! And how real you, also, were! So tinglingly alive, so hungry for adventure. Once in a while, for a flash, something brings it back. The sharp, green scent of budding willows . . . rain-wet pine or chapparal. The long call of a quail . . . or squalling of a jay. The warm, pin-point of flame in cabins, through the dusk.

Then, for a flash, you manage to FEEL life again. But, for the rest, your mind and nerves feel doped. You sleep-walk through the days . . . doing and saying the things you're supposed to say and do.

BUT WHY? WHAT HAS CHANGED YOU SO . . . TAKEN THE WILD, SWEET WONDER OUT OF LIFE . . . TURNED THAT YOUNG, EAGER SELF TO AN AUTOMATON?

There's a question that at least fifty million people are asking at this moment—staring out from office windows, over kitchen sinks—wondering why life has to end before it has really begun? But it doesn't "hafta"! You don't need to be the lumpish, torpid thing you are. You CAN—if you've the courage—LIVE AGAIN!

Recently, from Lorraine Durst of San Francisco, came this letter, like a call of Spring. Lorraine, too, found the old pulse slipping—wondered why. Then gave herself this Look-see . . . and sent it on.

"Why don't we get any joy out of living?

"PERHAPS IT'S BECAUSE WE'RE ALWAYS ASKING OURSELVES IF WE ARE . . . ANALYZING AND DOUBTING . . . DISSECTING OUR REACTIONS TO SEE IF THEY CHECK UP WITH OUR NEIGHBORS!

"The truth is—we don't dare to be natural with ourselves or life . . . don't dare to act on impulse and not give a hang. Just let ourselves go! We've all become rubber stamps, and if we don't do or say or feel exactly like every one else, we're sure there is something wrong.

"As a consequence, our feelings have become standardized, so synthetic and artificial THAT WE RARELY FEEL ANYTHING. We're just about as natural and spontaneous as a movie star! And we're tortured by self-consciousness if we ever happen, by accident, to do something different or original.

"Our very conversation is composed of slogans—wise-cracks—cliches. We all have definite lines and mannerisms. Life never gets a chance to penetrate our stereotyped personalities.

"Why don't we get joy out of living? BECAUSE WE'VE SOLD OUR BIRTHRIGHT OF SIMPLE, SPONTANEOUS, SINCERE EMOTION FOR A HANDFUL OF FASHIONABLE FEATHERS AND FLAPDOODLE."

Lorraine Dees Durst
San Francisco, Calif.

Great! Remember, folks, the big bowl of sulphur and molasses Grandma used to keep on the kitchen shelf, come March, for a spring tonic? Lorraine's gone Grandma one better . . . given our sick souls a dose of that honesty they so badly need.

Want to try an experiment? Then watch yourself for JUST ONE DAY. Keep a little note book 'round, and check every time you utter some hackneyed old bleat . . . pull some moth-eaten platitude . . . do or say or think something because "it's the thing to do."

Man About Manhattan

—By GEORGE TUCKER

NEW YORK—The fantastic anecdotes of Hollywood continue to wing their way back from studio lots, and if this one is to be believed, and there is no reason why it shouldn't, it merits a high place in the uncollected annals of absurdity.

It concerns Gilbert Gabriel, former New York dramatic critic, who went to Hollywood to write for the films. He didn't just go there. He rushed. By plane. At the insistence of studio chiefs who telegraphed him that speed was imperative. Drop everything and take the first plane, they urged. Hurry! Hurry!

So Gabriel tossed a few shirts in a bag and boarded a fast transcontinental plane. He arrived. He was met. He was welcomed and greeted enthusiastically.

He was cheered and told that the wheels probably would have ceased turning had he not caught that particular plane.

And then he sat quietly for three months without writing a word.

* * *

BUT the ghost salary continued to come in. Each week he was handed his money. Good money. You could spend it anywhere. But Gabriel began to get jittery. He was tired twiddling his thumbs. Finally he went to his studio chief:

"I can't stare into space and be happy. You got me out here on a rush assignment and I've been here for months without doing anything. I want an assignment. I want a story to write."

"Ah," cried the executive, "why didn't you say so! But of course you are not happy. You must have an important story to write."

So the executive went home and thought about it and came back with a gleam of trumph in his eyes. He said to Gabriel:

"Now it is all arranged. You are to write an important story—a magnificent picture starring Yehudi Menuhin, the prodigy, the great boy violinist, but there must be no love scenes in the picture. There must also be a fat part in the story for Toscanini, the great Toscanini. What a picture! What box-office! Yehudi and Toscanini! Remember now, no love interest for Yehudi. That is not permitted. But use your imagination. Write anything you like. Write a great story, a magnificent story. Do you like this assignment?"

"It is okay with me," replied Gabriel, "so long as I am working. But it seems strange that a picture should be made without any love interest whatsoever."

"Nevertheless, there must be no love interest," declared the executive.

* * *

"I'LL GO to work on this at once," Gabriel agreed. "When do you want it? When do you plan to put this into production?"

"Oh," explained the producer, "I forgot to tell you. It won't go into production. We couldn't get Yehudi, and Toscanini wouldn't come out here at any price. We really aren't going to make the picture at all. But it's a swell idea for a story and you said you were unhappy because you had nothing to write. Now you can write and be happy as you like."

This story was told your correspondent by a writer who is vacationing in New York. He is under contract to the same studio and he assures me the story is true. There is no reason to believe it is not.

Timely Editorial

Common Sense.

The long period of continuous peace between the United States and Canada is an example the rest of the world should study. The annual report of the Carnegie Endowment for International Peace again comments on it and gives a simple but satisfactory explanation.

Reviewing the history of the two nations, the report notes that there have been many causes for misunderstandings. It speaks of a "long series of stresses and strains, of dangers unconsciously feared and conflicts narrowly avoided."

And what is the secret of this 125 years of peace, contrasting so clearly with international relationships in Europe? The author of the report says "peace has been preserved more by the tempering solvent of common sense than by legal precautions." So long has common sense prevailed that it has become a frame of mind in both countries. "The conviction," says the report, "is equally strong in Canada and t he United States that war between the two countries is unthinkable."—Detroit News.

Kentucky's Governor In Public Eye

That the live-wire Kentucky governor, "Happy" Chandler, has the Roosevelt administration plenty worried is the opinion of James McMullin, political forecaster, writing for the Commentator Magazine.

Running for the senate against Allen Barkley, present majority leader, who barely squeezed into Joseph T. Robinson's shoes last year, winning over Pat Harrison by only one vote, "Happy" of the dynamic personality and homespun background is proving himself a candidate to be seriously reckoned with in the coming election.

His achievements as governor have been astounding. Two years' service have proven him to be a man who actually accomplishes the economies in government which congressmen are always advocating. Chief among these the Commentator lists:

1. Reduction of the state debt by more than 50 per cent; interest cut.
2. Repeal of the sales tax, replacing it with a tax on amusements, confections, soft drinks, and cosmetics.
3. Abolition of 130 state boards; 9,000 political jobs eliminated.

The governor has built up one of the smoothest political machines Kentucky has ever had and, concludes the Commentator, it is this machine which is giving Barkley and his Washington backers the jitters.

FEE GOES UP

Replacing Bill of Sale Costs Autoist 75 Cents Now.

It will cost an automobile owner 75 cents and considerable "red tape" to lose his bill of sale under provisions of the new certificate of title law, Fred R. Zellner, county clerk of courts, had been informed today.

The 75-cent cost for a new certificate of ownership represents a 50-cent increase over the charge Zellner said his registration department had been making for duplicate bills of sale.

Interpretation of the involved state motors law, which went into effect Jan. 1, was submitted to Zellner by Frank West, state motor registrar, who added that a motorist who loses his bill of sale must also obtain proof from the county clerk who issued it that he actually owns the car.

In the event the car owner has moved since he obtained the original bill of sale, he is required to get his duplicate statement of ownership in the county in which he now resides, West said.

STATES GUARD GASOLINE LEVY

18 Limit Amount of Gasoline Allowed Inside Borders Without Taxes.

WASHINGTON— (UP) —Eighteen states have limited the amount of gasoline which may be brought inside their borders without payment of additional taxes, according to a survey made by the federation of tax administrators.

The restrictions are designed to prevent motor vehicles from using highways without contributing to the cost of maintenance and construction.

Thirteen states have specific gallon limits — ranging from 10 gallons in Colorado to 50 in Iowa —while five states admit tax-free only the fuel that can be carried in a vehicle's ordinary fuel tank.

States which restrict the number of gallons of gasoline which can be brought across their borders without payment of additional fuel taxes are: Iowa, 50 gallons; Idaho, Illinois, Kansas, Wisconsin, and Washington, 20; Texas, New Jersey, and Louisiana, 30; New Mexico and Nevada, 25; Indiana, 15, and Colorado, 10.

States which forbid importation of gasoline without payment of additional taxes—in excess of that carried in ordinary fuel tanks— Arizona, Arkansas, Maine, New York, and Oregon.

GIVES RAILROAD MORE TIME ON SIGNAL ORDER

Commission Grants Six-Month Extension to B. & O. on Bowman Flashers.

City officials today were notified by the state utilities commission, that the Baltimore and Ohio railroad had been granted an additional six months to install flasher signal lights at the Bowman street crossing, scene of a fatal accident early this year.

In a letter to Mayor Claude M. Hunter, the commission said they had granted the railroad's request because of the present financial conditions. They said they were in hope that by the time the six months had elapsed that the appropriations would have been made by the B. & O. and that the installation would be made.

Hunter Disappointed.

Hunter immediately replied to the commission that it "is with some reluctance" he learned of the extension. He pointed ont that the longer the delay in making the installation the greater the chances for accidents at the crossing.

He pointed out the need for full-time protection at the other five crossings in the city protected only part time and asked the commission to "expedite action" requiring full-time protection at all these crossings.

The utilities commission early in March had given the B. & O. 90 days to comply with the recommendations of their inspector, W. E. Harrington, that flasher lights be installed at Bowman street. Later, the commission also notified all three railroads operating through Mansfield, the Erie and Pennsylvania in addition to the B. & O. that full-time protection would have to be furnished at five crossings in the city. They gave the railroads 90 days to comply with the order.

The crossings where full time protection was recommended were the Erie on North Diamond, scene of a fatal accident only last week, the B. & O. and Erie on North Mulberry street, and the Erie double crossing on North Main street.

Couple to Observe Golden Wedding At Jeromesville

ASHLAND — A family dinner for 33 guests has been planned as part of the celebration at the Newmyer home near Jeromesville Sunday, April 24, when Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Newmyer celebrate their golden wedding anniversary.

In was in 1888 that they were married in West Salem. They moved to near Jeromesville 35 years ago, have lived in the vicinity since.

Friends may call at the home after 2 p. m. Sunday, when open house will be observed.

Mr. and Mrs. Newmyer are the parents of Mrs. Mary Austen of Polk, John Newmyer of Jeromesville, Paul Newmyer at home and George Newmyer, deceased.

A Farmer's Diary

By CALVIN A. BYERS

April 20.

A FEW days ago I went to visit an old couple who lived a short distance from my home. The morning was like a lovely dream—not one discordant note was felt or heard.

I went across the dewy fields, forded the little stream and finally reached the path that led up to my old friends' house. The doors were open and the fragrance of early lilac, wild currant and narcissus were borne through the cottage to the place I stood. Since I heard no voices or footsteps, I looked for them in the garden. As I went around the house, I heard them speak the familiar Pennsylvania Dutch. The old man was saying "Mein buckel tot mir vey" (My back hurts me).

"Wie geht's," I said, as I stood by the entrance.

They both turned around in surprise, smiled, and said broadly, "Morgen!"

I asked the old man to give me the spade. He hesitated, then with his big hand across the top, he handed it to me. I saw where the surface of the garden bed had been raked clean, and a small pile of ashes was smoking near the fence. I spaded back and forth where he had started the work, while he put well rotted manure into every other furrow from the old wheelbarrow standing near.

The soil was rich and mellow. I spaded up many angleworms. The sharp blade cut some in two—I saw the parts pitch and writhe, but knew that nature would soon supply the missing part.

The old man raked the patch I had spaded, making a fine, smooth top. I saw him shape the sides, and pat the soft fine soil as tenderly as if it were a living thing. This was part of his very being. From it he fed his cattle and horses, clothed, reared and schooled his children, and now—the memories of all these services are, to him, rich and precious. The little clods and finer particles have turned to gold.

GETS THREAT

Mayor Receives Note Tied To Rock Tossed In Window.

LISBON, O.—(U.P.)—Sheriff H. L. Gosney today investigated a threatening note tied to a rock and thrown through a window at the home of Mayor E. P. Kurtz of New Waterford. The note read: "This is only the begine." Mayor Kurtz was unable to explain the message.

products go down, new uses will be found for the products."

He said in this connection that industry was using more plastics and was looking to agriculture to supply materials. Cellulose could be found in most farm products, he said, adding that "in the future the fuel for automobile engines will come from farms."

Asked near the end of the interview if he had in mind any new moves to cement international peace at this time, he replied:

"It will come when we are ready for it."

On still another subject, he advanced the opinion that a time of "very simple housekeeping is coming." He based this view, he said, on the theory that "very little heat will be required to prepare food which has been scientifically raised."

Ford said, smiling as he chatted with newsmen, that he wanted to shake hands with the president "as an old friend" and have a chat with him. He said:

"I want to give the president a chance to look at somebody who doesn't want anything."

Aims for Billion In Federal RFC Loans.

BULLETIN

WASHINGTON —(U.P.)— Opponents of President Roosevelt's $4,512,000,000 recovery drive opened their fight against the program today, charging it means inflation, will cause new distress and a federal deficit of $8,000,000,000 in the 1939 fiscal year.

WASHINGTON —(U.P.)— Administration officials considered two proposals today for using Reconstruction Finance corporation funds to stimulate expansion and modernization in the utility industry. They hoped that this program could reach an outlay of $1,000,000,000.

A reliable source informed the United Press that the plans now being considered by RFC and securities and exchange commission officials would provide for:

1. RFC loans to utilities. The RFC would take as collateral utility company bonds which would not necessarily have to be "grade A."

2. "Tide over" loans by the RFC to underwriters who would undertake the marketing of public utility common stocks. The loans would cover unsold portions of stock issues and would be repaid as the balance of the shares were sold.

These plans, admittedly, are in the formative stage and details must be worked out. They were discussed with President Roosevelt yesterday by RFC Chairman Jesse H. Jones, SEC Chairman William O. Douglas, and SEC Commissioner John W. Hanes.

The United Press informant said that Mr. Roosevelt was sympathetic to the general ideas and asked the RFC and SEC officials to return with a definite program after they have completed details.

The RFC, it was said, is more sympathetic to the plan for direct loans to utilities. The SEC, it was understood, favors the second plan. Both originated with the SEC.

MR. ZERO + + +

CHAPTER XVIII

Sylvia looked faintly surprised. "I never can remember about lights. I didn't mean to leave it on. I suppose Francis saw it."

"Sylly, you're not telling me what happened."

Sylvia began to breathe a little faster.

"I went right down to the end of the yew walk where the seat is, and the window, but I didn't like doing it a bit, because I don't really like that sort of place very much even in the daytime. I had a torch, and when I got to the window it shone through it, and Mr. Zero said, 'Is that you?' and I said it was. And he said, 'Have you got those letters?' and I 'Yes.' And he said, 'Hand them over quick and put out that torch of yours,' and I said 'Why?' and he got awfully cross and said to put it out at once. And then we heard someone running and it was Francis."

'How did you know it was Francis?"

Sylvia stared and shuddered.

"He called out. I was so frightened, I thought I was going to faint. Then they began to fight, and they were saying awful things. And Mr. Zero said, 'Take that!" and there was a shot, and the pistol fell down and I picked it up."

Gay tried to think whether anyone would believe Sylvia's story. She didn't see how they could. She tried to think whether she could believe it herself

The door opened and Algy Somers came into the room.

She said, "Sylvia, will you say that all over again. To Algy. Algy's got to help us. You've got to tell him."

Sylvia turned lovely plaintive eyes on Algy and said it all over again.

Algy brought a chair over to the couch and sat down quite close to them.

"Who is Mr. Zero, Lady Colesborough?" he asked.

Sylvia looked helpless.

"That's what he called himself when he talked to me on the telephone."

Algy said "Yes?" in an encouraging voice, and, when that did not produce anything, "Don't you know his real name?"

"Oh, no," said Sylvia.

"You were meeting him to give him some letters. Will you tell me why?"

"He wanted them," said Sylvia with a sob. "He said they were his. He said he'd tell Francis—about the other things—" Her voice broke.

"He was blackmailing you?"

Two large tears rolled down Sylvia's cheeks.

"Yes, he was. And Gay said not to meet him, and I wish I hadn't now, but I didn't want him to tell Francis about the paper."

Algy said "Help!" to himself. He had awful visions of the sort of witness that Sylvia was going to make, he had awful visions of what she might be going to say.

He asked, "What paper?" and with a complete sense of unreality heard Sylvia say, "The one I took when I was staying with the Wessex-Gardners. I can't ever remember the man's name"

It was Gay who said "Lushington," and it was Gay who saw the white line come on either side of Algy's mouth.

Algy said very quietly, "You took a paper from Mr Lushington s room at Wellings a week ago?"

"He made me," said Sylvia. "He said he'd give me two hundred pounds. And I'd lost it at cards, and Francis would have been so angry."

Algy said, "He being Mr. Zero?"

Sylvia nodded.

"So I had to get the letters when he told me to."

Algy said, "I see."

* * *

He got up and walked up and down the room. The window was open. Francis Colesborough had gone out that way. There was a drawer pulled out on one side of the writing-table, pulled out in a hurry and left He stood looking down at it without touching anything. He wondered what had been taken from it in that last hurry, and saw some cartridges lying there and thought, "It was his own pistol. He snatched it up and went out." There was a sheet of paper on the blotting-pad, a letter just begun.

Algy bent down and read it as it lay a little crookedly on the pale yellow blotting-paper.

There was no beginning. That halted him, because there was something strange in a letter which discarded all the usual forms. The strangeness sounded a warning bell. The check was momentary, yet in that moment he braced himself against what might come. Without any change of expression he read:

"You disturb yourself unnecessarily. Neither Zero nor the agent is under the least suspicion. This rests in quite another quarter. M. L. has decided—"

The writing broke off there.

Algy Somers went back to the butler's pantry and rang up Montagu Lushington, and while he was on the telephone the police arrived.

Colonel Anstruther, in charge of police, leaned back in his chair and frowned at Inspector Boyce. He had been a chief constable for ten years without ever coming to closer quarters with a cause celebre than the pages of his daily newspaper. He now found himself threatened with a sensational publicity from which no man in the British Isles was more averse. He had an exact and orderly mind, and disapproved of crimes which could not be immediately docketed and pigeon-holed.

He drummed on the arm of his chair and said, "The home office is sending a man down. You'll have to take instructions from him as to the political issues involved. He will be present when the safe is opened, and so will Sir Francis Colesborough's lawyer."

"That was a very queer letter, sir," said Inspector Boyce.

"Damned queer. Damned treasonable, if you ask me. Home office report on sabotage missing, Lady Colesborough confessing she took it under instructions from a blackmailer who calls himself Mr. Zero, and her husband, whom she thought was going to kill her if he found out, writing, 'Neither Zero nor the agent is under the least suspicion.' This means Francis Colesborough was in on that business, and lord knows what we shall find when we open the safe." Neither Zero nor the agent. Now suppose Francis Colesborough was Zero—the agent very probably his wife. They were staying at Wellings when the paper was missed. She's a pretty, silly woman. Suppose her husband put her on to getting the paper for him. Well, say she did it—what was she doing last night? She says—where's that statement of hers?" He plucked it angrily from the desk and leaned back again. "Yes, here we are. She says:

"'I went into the yew walk to meet a man who called himself Mr. Zero. I have never seen him, and I do not know his real name. He said my husband was keeping some of his letters, and he induced me to take them out of the safe in our London house and bring them down to Cole Lester. He said they were his property and would have his name on them. I found a package which was marked 'Zero.' It was this I took into the yew walk. I did not take any pistol with me. There is a window in the yew hedge. When I reached this window Mr. Zero was there, but on the other side of the hedge and behind it so that I did not see him. He asked me whether I had the letters, and when I replied in the affirmative he told me to hand them over quickly. I heard my husband coming on the outside of the hedge to the left of the window. Mr. Zero was on the right. They were both outside the hedge, and I was inside. My husband called out. He said angry things I don't remember whether Mr. Zero said anything then. They began to fight. I had a torch. I saw a pistol in my husband's hand. I think Mr. Zero got it away from him. They were fighting just outside the window, and I was very frightened. I heard Mr. Zero say, 'Now what about it?' and 'Take that!' There was a shot. I don't know what happened to Mr. Zero. Or the letters. I thought I was going to faint. I thought my husband was dead. I picked up the pistol—'"

Sylvia and the official mind had obviously collaborated. The result enraged Colonel Anstruther. He repeated the last sentence angrily.

"She says, 'I picked up the pistol.' What does she mean? What's the good of letting her make a statement like this? How could she pick it up if it was the other side of the hedge?"

Inspector Boyce gave a slight cough.

"She says it wasn't, sir"

"Wasn't what?"

"Wasn't on the other side of the hedge, sir."

Colonel Anstruther glared.

"Does she or doesn't she state that she was on the inside of the hedge and the two men on the outside?"

"Yes, sir."

"And that one of them had the pistol and the other got it from him?"

"Yes, sir"

"Then how the devil could she pick it up inside the hedge?"

"I don't know, sir."

"Then why didn't you ask her? If she says a thing like that she's got to explain it, hasn't she?"

Inspector Boyce stiffened and reverted to the extreme official manner.

"I did not omit to put that point to Lady Colesborough. She replied that she had no recollection of what occurred between the firing of the shot and the picking up of the pistol. If you will refer to the statement, sir—"

Colonel Anstruther referred to the unsatisfactory document. He read in an annoyed voice:

"There was a shot. I don't know what happened to the letters. I don't know what happened to Mr. Zero. I thought I was going to faint. I thought my husband was dead. I picked up the pistol—"

"Well, what about it? The pistol is outside, and she is inside, and she says she picked it up. What's the thickness of the hedge? I suppose you've measured it?"

MANY NEVER SUSPECT CAUSE OF BACKACHES

This Old Treatment Often Brings Happy Relief

Many sufferers relieve nagging backache quickly, once they discover that the real cause of their trouble may be tired kidneys.

The kidneys are Nature's chief way of taking the excess acids and waste out of the blood. Most people pass about 3 pints a day or about 3 pounds of waste.

Frequent or scanty passages with smarting and burning shows there may be something wrong with your kidneys or bladder.

An excess of acids or poisons in your blood, when due to functional kidney disorders, may be the cause of nagging backache, rheumatic pains, leg pains, loss of pep and energy, getting up nights, swelling, puffiness under the eyes, headaches and dizziness.

Don't wait! Ask your druggist for Doan's Pills, used successfully by millions for over 40 years. They give happy relief and will help the 15 miles of kidney tubes flush out poisonous waste from your blood. Get Doan's Pills.

CATTLE PRICES APPEAR TO BE ON FIRM BASE

Changes Unlikely Before July, Department of Agriculture Says After Survey.

(By United Press)

WASHINGTON — There probably will be but little further change in cattle prices during the first half of this year, according to the department of agriculture.

The cattle market now shows signs of stability following the sharp decline in prices of the better grade cattle in November and December, the bureau of agricultural economics said.

During the next few months the better grades of cattle reaching market probably will increase, while the volume of slaughter cows and lower grade steers will decrease, the bureau said.

Prices of choice and prime grade steers at Chicago declined nearly $8 from late October through December, due to lower feed prices and decreased consumer demand resulting from the business recession which threw 3,500,000 workers out of employment.

Other factors which the bureau said affected prices were: A slight increase in supplies of high-grade cattle; a seasonal increase in poultry consumption; a greater than seasonal increase in pork consumption; a sharp decline in hide prices.

The number of cattle on feed in the Corn Belt states on Jan. 1 was about 15 per cent larger than a year ago Supplies of well-fed, grain-fed cattle, therefore, are expected to increase considerably in the late winter and spring.

The bureau pointed out, however, that the number of cattle being fed in the Corn Belt this winter is not as large as in most recent years of large corn production. In the 11 western states there are slightly fewer cattle on feed this winter than last.

The slaughter of both cattle and calves this year is expected to be smaller than it was last year, the bureau said. In those areas where cattle numbers have been reduced in recent years because of drouth, it is expected that some restocking will be done which will result in fewer cows, heifers and calves going to market.

Feed is plentiful this year, and this is expected to be reflected in market. This will offset in part the heavier weights of cattle going to decrease in the number slaughtered. It is expected, therefore, that the supply of beef this year will include a larger proportion of the better grades.

4-H ADVISERS DINE TONIGHT

Activities for New Season to Be Outlined at Session Here.

Activities of boys' and girls' 4-H clubs in Richland county will be renewed with a dinner for advisers at 7:30 p. m. today at the First M. E. church.

Speakers at the session will be S. N. McIntosh, Holmes county agricultural agent; Mrs. Howard Koogle of Mifflin township, and Howard Taylor of Lexington. Robert Weimer of Mifflin township will be toastmaster.

The dinner, an annual affair, is in recognition of the work of 60 club advisers who headed youth activities in the county last year and who will be asked to serve again this summer, County Agent George B. Ganyard said.

Supreme Court Upsets Muskingum Valley Lake Program

RULES AGAINST BOND ISSUE TO FINANCE PLAN

Ohio Tribunal Holds District Can't Issue $1,500,000 in Bonds for Project.

(By Associated Press)

COLUMBUS — The Muskingum conservancy district's recreational and conservation program went into limbo today as the result of the Ohio supreme court's refusal to authorize a special assessment against all property in the area to finance construction of a series of artificial lakes in the upper Muskingum river basin.

The supreme court upheld the lower courts of Tuscarawas county in enjoining the district from issuing $1,500,000 in bonds which would have been retired in 10 years by real estate levies in the district's 14 counties.

Attacks Authority.

Charles N. Hostetler of Massillon alleged in a taxpayers' suit that the $1,500,000 was to be used for construction of the lakes as permanent improvements and that the district was without authority to levy general taxes on property not benefited by the projects.

Hostetler contended that a general assessment could be levied only for preliminary costs of the entire district and that the allowance of the general levy bonds would open the way for future levies in connection with the district's $6,500,000 share in the project's cost.

Common Pleas Judge Clarence U. Ahl granted a temporary injunction in Hostetler's suit last Nov. 23. The fifth district court of appeals upheld the common pleas court and made the injunction permanent. The supreme court affirmed the appellate court.

District directors voted the bond issue after litigation held up plans to sell 30-year bonds to be retired by assessments from property owners deriving benefits from the project's flood protection.

Major Objective.

Counsel for the district argued that development of a recreational and conservation program was one of the principal motives behind the proposal to issue the general levy bonds. It maintained that all district property owners should be assessed for the benefits of such a program.

The court upheld the lower Stark county courts in setting aside the will of Edward Pearson who had attempted to dispose of his $20,000 farm. Suit to set the will aside had been instituted by James H. Creighton, a nephew.

Martin Estate Assessed $2,487 Inheritance Tax

Inheritance tax totaling $2,487 had been assessed against the estate of the late William B. Martin, former head of the Martin Hardware company, in probate court today.

Net value of the estate, subject to tax, was set at $46,715 by A. E. Courtney, Mansfield, executor of the estate. The gross estate amounted to $88,116, Courtney's report showed.

Mr. Martin's will, which was upheld in common pleas court last month after it had been contested by a nephew, Allen B. Martin, of Mansfield, left bequests of $42,715 to a half-brother, Roeliff B. Martin, Cleveland.

Assets of the estate, according to the executor's statement, included $43,929 in Martin Hardware company stock, $19,590 in real estate in Weller and Franklin townships, and $8,118 in Mansfield Savings and Trust National bank stock.

Attorneys' fees consumed $6,955 of the estate, while the executor's compensation amounted to $2,382, and court costs totaled $117, the report said. Atty. William F. Black is counsel for the estate. He was assisted by Atty. R. E. Hutchison during the trial of the suit contesting the will.

HUNTSVILLE, Tex. — (INS) — Barring last-minute intercession by Governor Allred, three men will die in Huntsville central prison's electric chair shortly after midnight tonight.

Federal Spending Defended By 'Son Jimmy'

Up and Down THE STREET

Some odd requests have been received by the committee in charge of quartering out-of-state athletes to appear in the Mansfield Relays Saturday from persons offering rooms. But the most unusual one was a request for "two good-looking athletes." As the request was not written in the same handwriting as the signature on the offer, the committee suspects that perhaps the high school girl who obtained the rooms might have had something to do with it. She lives next door to the home where the rooms are located.

C. M. Crafton and Harry Frick, proprietors of Main street stores, are being given the well-known horse laugh today by friends for their trip to the dentist last night, and its results. Frick, who doesn't think any more of going on a tooth-pulling expedition than he would of walking up to the mouth of a loaded cannon, asked Crafton to go along for "moral support." No one knows exactly what happened except the dentist and he isn't telling, but when the men left the office, Crafton had one less tooth and Frick still had his aching molar.

The frankness of Supt. W. L. Miller of Mansfield schools is often the delight of his friends and it frequently is convenient for a man whose time is rarely his own. Invited yesterday to a meeting next week, Miller declined to accept until after he had examined his engagement book. Returning to the invitation bearer, he said solemnly, "I don't have an alibi written down for that night, so I'll be there."

Someone at John Simpson Junior high school believes in saying it with flowers. Yesterday a pair of gloves was taken from the desk of Miss Edythe Mann, English teacher. Perhaps a guilty conscience prompted their return. Anyway they were on the top of her desk this morning, in plain sight and neatly folded. Across the gloves was one long stemmed red tulip, which Miss Mann believes was a mute little apology.

Y. W. C. A. Delegates to Attend National Convention.

Three delegates from the Mansfield Y. W. C. A. will go to Columbus Friday to attend the annual national convention which will be held there April 22-28 inclusive, at the Deshler-Wallick hotel.

The delegates are Margaret West, general secretary; Janette Waring, staff secretary, and Mrs. Marshall Moore, membership chairman. Business girls who will attend the week-end sessions are Betty Osbun, Jean Shively, Willamine Hoffman, Faye Cisco and Alfretta Bowden.

National officers will be in charge of the convention. The president is Mrs. Austin L. Kimball, Buffalo, N. Y.

Ruth F. Woodsmall, world secretary of the Y. W. C. A., of Geneva, Switzerland, will be the speaker Sunday afternoon. Other speakers at the convention will be Paul Douglas, of the University of Chicago; Dr. John Thompson of the University of Oklahoma; and Dr. F. Ernest Johnson, executive secretary of the federal council of the Churches of Christ in America.

A number of other Mansfielders will attend sessions next week.

HOUSE HEADING FOR WAGE FIGHT

Clash Looms Between North, South Lawmakers on New Labor Legislation.

(By International News Service)

WASHINGTON — The huge Democratic majority in the house today headed toward a bitter controversy between Northern and Southern members over the issue of national wage-hour legislation.

With both friends and foes of the legislation laying plans to force the issue within the next few weeks, Democratic members privately charged that a "Republican plot" is under way to intensify the split.

The Norton wage-hour bill, which provides for minimum wages beginning at 25 cents and maximum hours beginning at 44 per week, was approved in the house labor committee with the aid of Republican votes. After five Democrats and five Republicans joined the upset the Ramspeck flexible wage-hour bill in a 10 to 8 vote, the committee then reported the Norton bill with but four dissenting votes.

Rep. Gildea (D) of Pennsylvania, who is supporting the Norton bill, nevertheless declared in favor of a flexible measure and said that the partisan issue will be raised in the battle.

"The Norton bill is not a Democratic bill, since a majority of Democrats on the labor committee preferred the sub-committee bill," said Gildea. "The party question will have to be faced in debate. I am hopeful that the house will adopt the flexible plan under which a board, after hearing all the facts, can fix minimum wages and maximum hours."

INSTITUTE HEAD VISITS PLANTS

Katherine Fisher of "Good Housekeeping" In Mansfield Today.

Katherine Fisher, director of the Good Housekeeping Institute, New York, an outstanding authority on home-making, is in Mansfield today, conferring with heads of the Tappan Stove company and Westinghouse Electric and Manufacturing company.

Miss Fisher has visited Mansfield frequently in the last five years and always attendats the annual Westinghouse kitchen planning clinic.

BLAZE KLLS TWO

BARBERTON—(AP)—Mrs. Elizabeth Wellspring, 32, was in serious condtiión today from burns and her husband, Raymond, 34, and daughter, Frieda, 2, were dead as the result of an explosion and fire which occurred when Wellspring poured kerosene into a stove.

SEES 'WHOLESALE BANKRUPTCY' IF SECURITY TAXES HIT 10 PCT.

Ohio business will fall into "wholesale bankruptcy" if social security taxes reach a possible maximum of 10 per cent, a representative group of 100 North Central Ohio businessmen were told last night.

Dr. Arch D. Shultz, research director for the Ohio Chamber of Commerce, declared that "business cannot stand maximum unemployment compensation of 4 per cent, and old age pension benefits of 3 per cent, and the employes contribution of 3 per cent that the politicians would like to loan onto employers."

Addressing business men from Ashland, Shelby, Bucyrus, Mansfield, Marion, and Lima, who gathered here for an employers clinic, Dr. Shultz pointed out how to proceed under the new unemployment compensation law with paying as little as possible.

"Is that hard-boiled?" he asked. "Perhaps so, but I don't think it's a case of being hard-boiled. It's a case of there being any jobs at all four years from now. And employes will agree that wages are better than the benefits derived from any compensation act."

The meeting, sponsored by the Mansfield Chamber of Commerce in co-operation with the Ohio chamber's social security service, was devoted to the discussion of the unemployment law.

Paul J. Daugherty, analyst for the state chamber, said that a district office for administering the act would be set up here July 1 for the payments of benefits beginning Jan. 1, 1939.

Daugherty spoke chiefly on the merit rating provisions of unemployment compensation whereby employers, by practicing moderation in sharing of work, may reduce their compensation payments.

Shultz pointed out that no benefits will be paid until Jan. 1, 1939, unless congress and the state legislature join in amending present laws to permit payments next fall.

He pointed out that employes are not taxed under the law while employers are forced to contribute 2.7 per cent until Jan. 1, 1942, when the merit rating plan goes into effect. After that their payments will range from 1 to 4 percent, depending upon the stability in their employment.

During a question period conducted by C. E. Hummel of Pittsburgh, social security service accountant for Westinghouse, he pointed out that if steel mills in Mansfield continue to operate on an order basis, the company cannot expect to benefit from the merit rating system because of the heavy employment variation.

It was explained that an employe to receive benefits must have worked 20 weeks prior to Jan. 1, 1939. The benefit for total unemployment will be 50 per cent of the average weekly wage. The maximum period over which consecutive benefits may be drawn is 16 weeks and the maximum payment per week is $15, or an annual maximum of $240.

DECLARES U. S. FUNDS 'OILER' FOR BUSINESS

Roosevelt's Son Says Pump Priming Already Has Won Experimental Tests.

(By Associated Press)

MIDDLETOWN—Miami valley Democrats today had the word of James Roosevelt, son and secretary of the president, that government spending is necessary to "lubricate the wheels of business."

Speaking to 1,000 at a party rally here last night, young Roosevelt said that the "experiment" in tapering off expenditures proved that the federal government can "pull the country out of the depression by spending and can drop the country in again by economizing."

Business quickly "went into a tailspin," Roosevelt recalled when spending was curtailed last year. He said the result was that the national income fell off 12 billion dollars.

Income Climbs.

"We have learned that when we go ahead with public works and work relief your average income goes up and we come closer each year to balancing the budget," he stated. "Now that the relationship is proved by experience . . . we are not in favor of delaying action any longer."

Following up with a defense of "pump-priming," Rep. Byron Harlan of Dayton termed critics of the program those who feel their "private prerogatives of exploitation injustly curtailed."

Four out of five panics have been stopped by "lavish spending," Harlan said.

The congressman stated that a comparison of agriculture and industrial prices in the periods of 1929 and today showed that "instead of agriculture leading us into bankruptcy, as it did eight years ago, it is now holding us back."

Defending reciprocity agreements as opening world markets for agriculture, Harlan said that "if there is panic here, it is in the hearts of the tariff profiteers who would, if unrestrained, completely destroy our export trade."

Also on the speaking program were Gov. Martin L. Davey and Charles Sawyer of Cincinnati, Democratic opponents in the August primary for the nomination for the governorship.

Sawyer omitted any mention of his campaign but Davey scoffed at suggestions that a primary fight might injure chances of Democratic victory and said: "Certainly we are going to win. In fact, I'd like to invite you all to come up (to Columbus) for the next inauguration."

MEET IN CITY

Welfare Supervisors in Three Counties Hear Judge.

Public assistance supervisors and workers from three counties met at the Richland county courthouse yesterday in the first of a series of monthly meetings designed to produce a better understanding of the functions of the federal, state and county welfare departments.

The group heard discussions by Probate Judge C. J. Anderson and Miss Helen Murray, Columbus, of the state welfare department.

Attending the session, which was held in the welfare offices at the courthouse, were Mrs. Marian Brucker, Shelby, district welfare supervisor; Mrs. Edna Duncan, Ashland county supervisor; Mrs. Rose Fletcher, Knox county case visitor; Miss Mildred Armstrong, Richland county supervisor, and Mrs. Katherine McMichael, Richland county case visitor.

The public assistance departments provide aid for dependent children and needy blind.

FAIR ENOUGH!

Pegler Forgets Troubles Of the World and Recalls A Bit of Baseball Humor

—By WESTBROOK PEGLER

NEW YORK—When I was writing baseball we had in the American league an umpire named Bill Guthrie, who had a bulldog jaw, whom the athletes, with their famous knack for unflattering nicknames, called "Dogface" Guthrie. Guthrie loved controversy, preferably physical, but he had a kind heart and a deep, personal admiration for Mickey Cochrane, who was then catching for Connie Mack in Philadelphia.

One day late in one of those seasons when Connie was winning his last batch of pennants, the White Sox limped into Philadelphia, dragging themselves around the league for the last time in a contest for eighth place, a distinction which they finally won from the Red Sox by the margin of half a game.

The weather was terribly hot, and Cochrane, after a very hard season, was weary and sluggish. Guthrie, being large and stout and cumbered with the heavy armor of his trade, not only felt sorry for Mike, but, in loyalty to the American league, wanted to spare him needless exercise so that he could be as fresh as possible for the impending world series.

* * *

With these feelings in his heart, he erred on the side of generosity when the Philadelphia pitcher, in the ninth inning, threw one right through Mike's listless hands which rolled about 10 yards and stopped. Mike whirled wearily and was starting after the ball when Mr. Guthrie flipped a fresh ball out of his pocket and said, "Let it go, Mike. Here's a clean one."

The White Sox had a runner on first at the moment, but were about eight runs behind with two men out. In these circumstances, Mr. Guthrie was startled by a shriek from the third base coacher's box. It was Mr. Donie Bush, the manager of the White Sox, yelling to his runner to go down to second.

Guthrie waved the runner back, but the man proceeded, nevertheless, and when he had doubtfully rounded the bag, Bush, from third, with frantic motions, commanded him to continue.

"Go on back," Guthrie bawled, "that ball is dead."

"Come on around," squawked Bush to his runner. "That ball ain't dead. That ball is in play." His runner rounded third and Bush sent him charging home, where Cochrane stood at the plate and tagged him with the fresh ball.

"Now he's out," said Guthrie.

"He ain't out," Bush bawled. "He scores."

* * *

At this point the other two umpires, George Moriarty and Big Shot McGowan, strolled in to confer privately with Guthrie, who plainly had booted one.

"Bill," Moriarty whispered to his colleague, "that ball ain't dead. We have got to do something."

"Oh," said Guthrie, "it's too hot for Mike to go chasing that ball, just before the world series. He is a great little guy and he is all in. What's the difference, anyway? Those bums are way behind, with two men gone, but you would think Donie was fighting for a pennant. Put the mug back on base and leave us get through."

"Yes," said McGowan, "but what base are we going to put him on? We got four bases. Anyway, now you have called him out on a play at the plate. That was no play."

"Oh, cut it in half and put him on second," said Guthrie, and this was done, with Bush of the White Sox, yipping and bouncing and vowing to protest the game.

It ended a few minutes later in the customary defeat of the White Sox, and, as the players finished dressing and straggled out, Bush, somewhat calmer by now, met Dogface under the stand.

"Bill," he said, "I am not going to protest the game. But right is right, and I want you to admit you kicked one. That's all I ask. Just let me win the argument."

Guthrie shook his head.

"That ball," he said, "was dead."

* * *

In a more recent controversy I share the position and emotions of Bush.

I claim that it is unethical for sons of a president of the United States to have profitable dealings with corporations which are beholden to whimsical political bureaus of the government for valuable rights and favors, and still take into the White House and confer great personal influence on a young man whose sense of propriety is such as that.

I am not going to protest or try to start impeachment proceedings. Like Donie Bush, I just want to win my argument.

Hollywood Speaks—

By ROBBIN COONS

HOLLYWOOD—Donald Crisp, the character actor, was shaking his head sadly the other day.

"I heard them swinging 'Annie Laurie' last night," he shuddered. "It was terrible.

"But it set some of us talking about music and songs," he went on, "and we hit on a counter-suggestion for the swinger. Those songs George M. Cohan was writing 25 years ago. . . . Yes, they're right in the modern tempo. . . . Remember 'H-A-R-R-I-G-A-N' and 'I Am the Man Who Owns Broadway' and 'Little Johnny Jones'? Those songs are as much in the spirit of today as tunes they're turning out now — and swingable, too."

* * *

On the set of "Little Miss Broadway" little Miss Patricia (Honey Chile) Wilder was swinging an industrious pair of needles. Knitting needles. And with the yarn she wove in a bit of advice:

"Take up knittin' if you want yourself a fella, girls—that's what Ah say. There's somethin' about knittin' that gets 'em every time. Most young fellas can't get past the old-fashioned idea that a woman's place is home—and there's somethin' awful homey-lookin' about knittin' . . . "

But on the set of "The Amazing Dr. Clitterhouse," where the next knitter was encountered, Gale Page didn't know about that. "I'm knitting this sweater for my sister—the first I've done—and I'm doing it to keep from smoking—something to do with my hands," she said.

Fritz Feld is getting more and more of the character comedy assignments that have boosted his popularity ever since "I Met Him In Paris." . . . It may be just a coincidence, but between pictures Fritz doesn't run off to Palm Springs or Malibu. . . . He's in the Paramount commissary for lunch every day at a table near the entrance where executives and directors must pass. . . . Which might be a tip for actors who wonder why they don't get farther.

* * *

Hollywood's a lonesome place, says Jeffrey Lynn ("Cowboy From Brooklyn" and "When Were You Born?" via the stage) . . . And he lists all the friends he has made in this supposedly palsy-walsy town in the first three months on four fingers and two thumbs: a script girl; Carl Millikan, ex-governor's son who was a Bates college (Maine) classmate; Jean Benedict, actress, and Frank Beckwith, dialogue director; a swimming companion at Hollywood Athletic club whose name he doesn't know; a publicity man who sometimes sends items back to the home town paper in Worcester, Mass. . . .

Hollywood isn't lonesome any more for Walter Brennan, the man nobody knows when he's in makeup. . . . But Brennan, presently behind a muff and wrinkles for "Spawn of the North," has one of the longest memories in town.... Hasn't forgotten the people who knew him when. . . . But for the others, who used to look through him, he hasn't much use..

Girl Fears Love Will Not Last

By VIRGINIA LEE

"Dear Virginia Lee: Do you know I think we feel thoughts unspoken of us as much as those spoken. Sometimes my friend doubts my love. We can't have everything that humans desire and crave, and I fear so often that my love is just that and that it will be taken away from me.

"A long love affair walls a girl in so. It shuts out all but him, making it difficult to see everything interesting, as we should. Really, I think the most glorious career of all is the one when a person can live contentedly and laugh. I used to do so much of it, but I've grown much too serious. I want to live and love and laugh. Would it be proper to ask my boy friend to take me where the arbutus and hypaticas grow?

"LIL' PEGGY."

What not ask the boy friend to go where the flowers bloom, the streams purl, and the birds sing, Lil' Peggy? It would be good for both your souls.

As for the rest of your letter I thought a brief mention of one or two points in it might be helpful. We all find ourselves in a state of fear and so not enjoying our lives as we might. To most young women your age you are in a very enviable position — beloved and loving. Of course in the emotional state of being in love one cannot help having some qualms of fear. But faith and trust in the future is what has given people courage to go on when everything looked very dark indeed.

So the very best attitude for you to take is one of gratitude for your blessings, and loving trust for the future. And as to laughing—why do you not laugh now? If life is too serious for that now, maybe you are not marrying the right man, eh? I don't want to start more fears rather than to allay them, but it is always well to be reasonably sure before you go happily ahead. And don't take life too seriously, crossing bridges before you come to them and meeting all the problems of your married life before you've faced the pastor. If you cannot go out with other boys, you have your family and girl friends and can laugh as gaily as anything, I am sure. Never let laughter — good clean, happy laughter—be crushed out of your life—never, as long as you live!

—Beauty—

Girdles Essential To Moderns

By JULIET SHELBY

(Central Press Writer on Beauty)

One thing that the fashions of the last few seasons have taught us is that the most perfect form is loveher with some kind of corseting And thus braced it stays lovely longer. Study an exquisite figure in the nude. You'll see, despite its seeming smoothness, all sorts of little nuances, curves and hollows that are natural and lovely in the nude, but that break the smoothness of line the eye unconsciously demands in a figure in modern dress. Too, a figure that is controlled, however slightly, is less apt to develop the bumps and bulges that seem to creep up on us, be we ever so careful.

When your figure isn't absolutely perfect a bit of corseting is a must! Of course, by corseting we don't mean the old ironsides that turned grandmother's waking hours into nightmares of rigidity. With the new fabrics, and new ways of handling them, there's no reason why you shouldn't combine perfect control with perfect comfort.

Good for Year Round.

For instance, in this day of miracles, there are girdles that are known for their flexibility. They have side panels of lastique, fitted in bias lines that actually make your diaphram, buttocks, hips and abdomen, pull against each other, and assist in their own control. These designs mold you to the loveliest lines imaginable, yet they are really so flexible that you could practically do your daily dozen while wearing them.

There's also a triple control lastique which you'll adore for summer. In fact, some of the loveliest girls we know tell us they're going to wear them all year round, because, despite the fact that they are boncless, they do marvelous things in raising the bosom. They also control your waist, hips, thighs and tummy. And the beauty of the new foundations is that they can be gotten so smooth that you can wear them beneath the slickest frock without a line showing.

Of course the problem of a brassiere is as important as it always was. But even the most difficult bosom can be raised and divided in lines to delight a sculptor, if you'll choose the correct type and have it properly fitted.

That brings us to what we consider the most important trick in corsetry. That is, perfection in fit. Pick a moderately priced garment, any time, rather than an expensive garment that has been designed for a figure other than your own.

There are three basic types of figure. The tall, the short, and the medium. And each of these has three divisions. The figure of symmetrical proportions, the figure with a large bosom and small hips, and the figure with large hips and small bosom. Unless your foundation is designed for whichever of the nine you happen to be, it can't hope to do you justice. So, the next time you select a combination or girdle, go to a corset department that boasts of expert fitters. Take your time, and don't decide on a garment until you've seen it from all angles, in a triplicate mirror. Stretch in it, sit down, move around. Then if you're sure it makes you sylph-like and comfortable, as well, make it your very own. You'll find your time and money well spent.

Marriage Meddlers

By ADELE GARRISON

Continuation of "Married Comrades"

THERE WAS an instant of silence at the other end of the receiver as I told the Lansfield telephone operator that I wished to speak to the manager of the hotel at once. I had a sudden wary intuition that the query was expected, an intuition that deepened when the operator finally replied to my question.

"Mr. Milner is not in the hotel just now," he said

"When is he expected?"

"I cannot tell exactly. He may be back at any minute He may not return for several hours"

"Who is in charge when Mr. Milner is away?"

"Mr. Day."

"Will you please connect me with him?"

There was another instant of hesitancy.

"Mr. Day is not on the floor just now. May have him call you?"

Not Calling Idly.

"Just a minute!" Purposely I made my tones icy. "I am not calling idly. I must speak to someone in authority here within the next five minutes. If I do not get the opportuntiy to do so, I am coming down to the lobby and find out the reason for the delay. If you are able to find Mr. Milner, ask him to get intouch with me. He must have left some clue to his whereabouts with someone. Tell him, please, that I do not like to go to Ma. Veritzen with a complaint, but that I shall be compelled to do so if I do not hear from him directly."

I hung up the receiver and turned to see Mary capering around the room, clapping her hands together silently as she danced.

"Hooray for ma tante!" she intoned. "It takes you to wow 'em. I'll bet a cookie to the hole in a doughnut that we hear from the gifted Mr. Milner before very many minutes have ticked their way across the face of the clock."

Locate Mr. Milner.

Her words were prophetic. The five minutes for which I had stipulated were not quite up when the telephone rang, and suave accents came over the wire.

"Mrs. Graham? This is Mr. Day. By the most fortunate of coincidences, we have located Mr. Milner, and he is hurrying over to the hotel. He will be here within 10 minutes. Will that be satisfactory?"

"Perfectly," I answered curtly. "When he comes in, will you ask him to come up to the suite at once. I do not wish to discuss the matter I have in mind over the telephone."

"I am sure he will come to your suite directly he arrives at the hotel," he answered, and I repressed the impulse to tell him that I knew he was prevaricating, and that Mr. Milner had never been out of the hotel.

"What did he say?" Mary asked avidly. When I had retailed the colloquy to her, she seized me in her arms and danced me around the floor until I was breathless.

Echoes Her Thought.

"I'll bet he never was out of the hotel at all," she said, echoing my thought. "That's an old dodge, pretending to be absent when they know there's a complaint coming. I wonder what excuse he'll make for not having those night chains on. But we can't spend all our time wondering. Your hair is nearly down and my bob is every which way. Let's spend "the interval of waiting," as the old novelists would say, in primping for our next trip. We're going out among 'em again, you know, as soon as you've reduced Mr. Milner to pulp."

From somewhere I pumped up an enthusiastic smile, although the prospect of going out again dismayed me.

"I know, and I'm coming on it." I said. "But we may be going somewhere we hadn't planned before many minutes."

"What do you mean by that?" Mary asked startled, but before I could answer, Mr. Milner's knock sounded on the door.

"Listen to what I say to him, and you may find out," I said as I went ot the door.

Menu Hint.

Salmon Loaf Baked Potatoes
Banana Bran Muffins
Stewed Tomatoes Celery
Gingerbread Custard Sauce
Coffee

You can make moist muffins that melt in your mouth with bananas and bran and they are excellent food

Today's Recipes.

BANANA BRAN MUFFINS—One cup sifted flour, one-half teaspoon salt, three-fourths teaspoon soda, two tablespoons shortening, one-fourth cup sugar, one egg, well beaten; one cup bran, two tablespoons sour milk or buttermilk, two cups thinly sliced bananas (two to three bananas. Sift together the flour, salt and soda. Rub the shortening to a creamy consistency with the back of a spoon. Stir the sugar slowly into the shortening, and continue stirring until light and fluffy. Add egg, bran and milk. Mix and let stand while slicing bananas. Add banana and mix well. Stir in dry ingredients, mixing only enough to dampen all the flour. Bake in well-greased muffin pans in a moderate oven (375 degrees F.) 30 to 35 minutes. Makes six large or 12 small muffins.

GINGERBREAD—One-half cup irradiated evaporated milk, one-half tablespoon vinegar, two cups flour, one-half teaspoon soda, one-half teaspoon ginger, one-half teaspoon cinnamon, one-half teaspoon baking powder, one-fourth teaspoon cloves, one-half cup sugar, three-fourths cup molasses, two eggs, one-half cup soft butter. Combine irradiated evaporated milk and vinegar. Sift flour, then measure. Resift into mixing bowl with other dry ingredients. Add molasses to the soured milk. Stir into dry ingredients. Add eggs, one at a time, and beat thoroughly, then add the butter. Pour into a well greased layer cake pan. Bake in a moderate oven (375 degrees F.) 25 to 30 minutes. This amount makes one layer, nine inches square.

CUSTARD SAUCE—Two eggs, one-third cup sugar, one-eighth teaspoon salt, two cups irradiated evaporated milk, one cup boiling water, one teaspoon vanilla, dash of nutmeg. Beat eggs. Add sugar and salt and beat well. then add milk. Stir in the boiling water. Cook over boiling water, stirring frequently, until mixture coats spoon, about five minutes. Add vanilla and nutmeg. Chill and serve on squares of gingerbread.

Fashion experts say that drape suits are definitely "In" . . . but there are still a few die-hard's who will insist on sport backs. For them we have pictured mode-of-the season herringbone with a sport back. GOLDSMITH'S tell me that gabardine and herringbone are running "neck and neck" in the race for fashion favorite of Spring. Wide stripes and subtle plaids are fighting for a close second. I'm speaking, of course, of suits and topcoats . . . which can be bought in the latest styles at GOLDSMITH'S for as little as $24.75 and $22.50 respectively. Another smart fashion item snooped there today is the gabardine Bush (Bore) coat in gray or tan. A clever sporty-looking jacket with "much pockets and belt" effect for only $8.50. A very swanky affair. (Wish I could wear one) Suede vests for the man who would are obtainable in tan or tobacco brown and are made with a Lastex wool back for only $4.95. Sleeveless sweaters run in price from $1.95 to $4.95 and come in solid colors and herringbone designs . . . all colors. A last minute "spiffy" to tone up your Spring outfit . . . a new tie for $1. They tell me small patterns are best this season. I've been talking mostly of style. I don't think you have to be told that GOLDSMITH'S are proud of their consistently high standards of quality and value.

A new metal "Magnalite" makes the most beautiful cooking utensils. I saw them today in the window of MARTIN'S HARDWARE. Seeing they were made by the Wagner Mfg. Co. I investigated. Magnalite is a new alloy of the highest purity. It is light, strong, extremely durable. It absorbs heat instantly. The thick bottoms, sides and covers store up heat and hold it long after ordinary utensils are cool. Each piece cooks like a miniature oven, surrounding the food with an even temperature that brings out the finest flavor. The easiest, most healthful, most economical way to cook in these new Magnalite utensils is with a low or moderate heat. They will give years and years of service. Magnalite retains its lustre and beauty indefinitely. It cleans easily. You use only pure soap and water and occasionally steel wool . . . and Wagner Magnalite Ware will shine like new. Better investigate for yourself, Mrs. Housewife, at MARTIN'S HARDWARE.

When you see the youngsters skipping rope, you know it's time to change to a lighter, more floral odor in perfumes, Believe me, it's just as important as changing the oil in the car! In REED'S today I found a few I know will please the majority. A new one to me—Rigaud's "UnAir Embaume" is pleasant. Lucien LeLong's "Impromptu" is now available in the same style attractive bottle, but only $6.50. For those who prefer cologne in warmer weather there is a Penthouse set of "Opening Nite", "Whisper", and "Indiscrete". "Opening Nite" has proved such a favorite among colognes they have got it up in a small hobnail bottle for $2. Corday's "Toujours Moi" is $1.25. Go into REED'S and find your perfume.

To give that finished homey touch to the end table or window seat . . . I saw in the window of STUHLDREHER'S ON FOURTH today such attractive groupings of cactus and miniature plants in pottery pieces . . . I went inside to price them, and here's the big news . . . the single plants (complete with pottery holder) are as inexpensive as 25c. See them next time you're down town . . . I know you'll be tempted as I was!

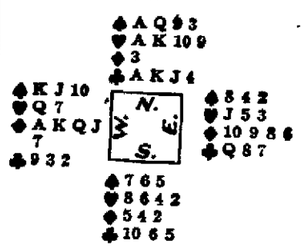
"The Authority on Authorities"

WHO WANTS BIG CARDS?

HANDS MADE up entirely of small cards are not necessarily worthless, even though devoid of a long suit. If the only four-card length is matched by four in a strong hand held by your partner, you may still find plenty of activity. You may even become the successful declarer in a game contract if your partner transfers the initiative to you by making an informative double.



(Dealer: West. Neither side vulnerable.)

West opened the bidding on this deal with 1-Diamond and North doubled. East passed and South called 1-Heart, which North jumped to 4-Hearts.

The opening lead was West's diamond K, followed by the diamond Q, trumped with dummy's heart 9. In order to attempt to create an entry into his own hand, declarer immediately led the club J, which East won with the Q. The diamond return was ruffed with dummy's heart 10, and the hearts A and K laid down. The club 4 was now led to South's 10 and the spade Q finesse tried. When this held, the clubs A and K were played. East ruffed the last one and returned another diamond, which South trumped. The last two tricks were won with the spade ace and a ruff of the spade 3.

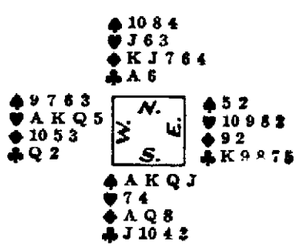
Tomorrow's Problem.



(Dealer: South. East-West vulnerable.)

How should South play 4-Spades after two hearts have been cashed by West and followed by a third?

HOROSCOPE

For Friday, April 22.

A DAY of much constructive work, with definite progress toward attaining high ambitions, is read from the predominant lunar and mutual aspects. While the energies may be under high stimuli and the spirit of initiative quickened to put over important projects, yet there are vexations, difficulties and confusing circumstances to be coped with.

Those whose birthday it is may be given the incentive to do some very productive work, especially in connection with new projects of importance. Nevertheless, there are confusions, peculiar situations and want of co-operation from superiors or employers to reckon with.

A child born on this day may be enterprising, aggressive and enthusiastic, more willing to be "on its own" than in employment or in co-operation with others, where it may be vexatious, headstrong and intolerant of others' ideas.

Cantaloupe should not be prepared until one is ready to serve it. If it is cut and allowed to stand for any length of time with cracked ice in it, the flavor is entirely destroyed. If special chilling is desired, pack the cantaloupe in cracked ice without cutting and let it stand for a few hours.

Simple, But Good Taste Rules for Letters.

These Tips Give You Letter-Ease.

No wonder you're troubled, Peg. When Dorothy Newcomer gets your note, she'll never guess what a charming, vivacious person you really are.

"I'm writing to ask whether you'd like to join our bridge club," you start out hesitatingly. "It sure would be nice to have you with us. We all hope you'll consider favorably . . . ."

How much easier and more friendly to say instead, "Won't you join our bridge club? It would be fun to have you with us. We all hope you'll say yes . . ."

Small changes can turn an awkward stumbling letter into a gay, social one. Avoid roundabout expressions like "I'm writing to ask;" stiff phrases like "consider favorably;" slips in grammar like "sure would" for "surely would."

To a good friend, pretend you're talking. Write, "How have you been?" "It was a treat to hear from you." "What's new?"

CHOCOLATE WALDORF ANGEL FOOD CAKE—Ten-inch angel food cake, one and one-half pints whipping cream, six tablespoons sugar, six tablespoons cocoa, one-eighth teaspoon salt, two-thirds cup toasted almonds or walnuts. Combine whipping cream, cocoa, sugar and salt and chill at least an hour. Then whip mixture stiff. Place cake (with larger surface at bottom) on a large serving plate. Cut entire top from cake, about one inch down, and lift off. Remove center from main part of cake by cutting down into cake one inch from outer edge and one inch from middle hole, leaving an inch wall. Remove center with curved knife or spoon, being careful to leave a wall of cake at bottom about one inch thick. Fill cavity with one-third of chocolate cream mixture, to which half the nuts, cut coarse, have been added. Replace top and spread remaining cream over top and sides. Shave remaining almonds or nuts and sprinkle over cream. Chill two or three hours before serving.
